INTENSE HEAT ENGULFS PACIFIC NORTHWEST

PENDLETON, ORE., REPORTS 112 DEGREES TODAY

CONGDON, OREGON, AND WALLA
WALLA, TIE WITH 110
EACH

GRANT'S PASS AND THE DALLES, ORE., IN THIRD PLACE
WITH 109

Portland, Ore., July 25.—(UP)— Dozens of small fires were burning in green timber and logged over regions today as low humidity and intense heat in the Pacific northwest created a fire hazard and caused general discomfort.

The temperature reached 99 in Portland. At Pendleton the mercury galloped up to 112 degrees while Congdon, Ore., and Walla Walla, Wash., were close behind with 110.
Grant's Pass and The Dalles, Oregon, tied for third place with 109 degrees each and Yakima, Wash., was fourth with 108.

Most inland cities in both states were above the 100 mark.

Three major fires were burning in southwestern Washington. Eight hundred men were fighting a blaze in the Long-Bell Lumber Co. holdings south of Ryderson, Wash. It looked dangerous and was nearing green timber. In Wahkiakum county 200 loggers were holding a fire from timber while a third fire east of Cathlamet had broken out.

London, July 5.—London and central and southern England generally passed the seventeenth rainless day today—the longest drought since that of 25 days in July, 1911. In some western and southwestern districts there has been no rain for 22 days. Today's temperature here was 72.

Sydney, Australia, July 25.—While there was a foot of snow in the interior of New South Wales today, floods elsewhere disrupted several railways.

RELIABILITY AIR TOUR FLIERS IN DEMONSTRATIONS

St. Paul, July 25.—(UP)—The 24 reliability air tour fliers continued today to give aerial demonstrations here following their arrival shortly before noon yesterday from Fargo, N. D.

The fliers, who will remain here tomorrow, have been feted by civic and state officials and have been guests at many functions including a dance marathon.

John Woods, Wausau, flying a Waco biplane, was virtually assured the Edsel Ford trophy when his total score including the St. Paul flight was announced as 22,741.4 points.

TAKE-OFF OF 'GREATER ROCKFORD' PLANE POSTPONED

Rockford, Ill., July 25.—(UP)—The take-off of the monoplane "Greater Rockford" on its flight to Stockholm, Sweden, scheduled for 5 o'clock this morning, was postponed today.

Bert Hassell, pilot of the blue and yellow Stinson-Detrolter, announced he had received word that head winds in Canada would make the take-off unfeasible today.

The plane will leave at dawn tomorrow, weather permitting, Hassell said.

AGED RAILROAD FLAGMAN GIVES LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

Chicago, July 25.—(UP)—An aged railroad flagman gave his life here today in attempting to save a motor car from a crossing crash.

The flagman, Gottlieb Steek, 56, was hurling 40 feet and instantly killed by a fast freight train when he stepped into its path to warn the auto party.
Disregarding his signals, the car speeded up and crossed safely.

THREE MEN KILLED IN SPECIAL TROOP TRAIN

Toronto, Ont., July 25.—(UP)—Three men were killed when a special troop train with the 22nd regiment of Quebec and a detachment of Royal Canadian Dragoons of St. Johns, Que., collided head-on with a freight train today at Sand Point, 60 miles west of Ottawa.

ATTITUDE OF U. S. TOWARD CHINESE NATIONALIST REGIME

Washington, July 25.—(UP)—The anticipated official pronouncement concerning the attitude of the U.
S. government toward the Chinese nationalist regime has been completed and will be released for publication tomorrow morning.
Copies of the statement, which is dated Tuesday, July 24, were to be delivered today to the nationalist foreign minister in Nanking and to certain members of the diplomatic corps here.

CONFESSION READS LIKE TALE FROM POE

ANDREW A. LOBEN, 56-YEAR-OLD FARMER, GIVES AUTHORI-TIES STORY

HAMMERED FRIEND TO DEATH, SHUDDERED AT CHLOROFORM-
ING CAT

Duluth, July 25.—(UP)—Andrew A. Loben, 56-year-old farmer, was said to have confessed a murder which unfolded like a tale from Poe.
Loben, according to County Attorney Mason M. Forbes, confessed that on the night of Dec. 30, 1927, he hammered to death his aged friend, Carl A. Johnson, yet said he shuddered at the thought of chloroforming Johnson's cat.

The murder, as revealed by Forbes in Loben's confession, occurred during a drinking bout and a quarrel over Johnson's cooking. The two men, it was said, were riding in an automobile along the Rice Lake road when Loben became enraged and struck Johnson on the head with a sledge hammer.

Four months later, Forbes said
Loben revealed, the farmer uncovered the body, dismembered it and hid it in a trunk filled with sawdust.
Forbes said Loben frequently mentioned Johnson's cat and when the county attorney asked why he had not chloroformed it he replied, "Oh!
I couldn't do that. I couldn't bring myself to it."

Loben was also said to have gotten possession of Johnson's farm by a forgery "for the taxes."

The alleged murderer late yesterday waived examination on a first degree murder charge and was bound over without bail until the fall term of district court.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN LEADERS TO PAY ATTENTION TO HOME-MAKERS

50 PER CENT OF WOMEN ELIG-IBLE TO VOTE DO NOT US-UALLY GO TO POLLS

Washington, July 25.—(UP)—A
new king of political organization
—among home-makers—was planned today by republican women leaders.

Mrs. Alvin H. Bert, republican committee vice-chairman, announced the plan at a conference of eastern committee women here. It will be extended at a meeting of western women leaders in Chicago Aug. 4.

Fifty per cent of the women eligible to vote usually do not go to the polls, she said, emphasizing that this new organization work will be directed to get them out for the republican nominee.

The home-makers number more than 24,000,000, she said, compared with 12,000,000 employed in "gainful" occupations.

REGAINED SIGHT; BARBER'S ELECTRIC VIBRATOR HELPED

his forehead.

American Policy of "Positive Friendship" for Chinese Nationalists Recently Revealed

NAVY WITHDRAWS 1,350 MARINES FROM TIENTSIN

WERE PART OF FORCE SENT TO FAR EAST IN MARCH AND APRIL, 1927

AFTER NANKING INCIDENT AND OTHER SERIOUS RIOTS OCCURRED

Washington, July 25.—(UP)— Concrete evidence of the new American policy of "positive friendship" for the Chinese nationalist government, details of which are soon to be made public, was revealed today in the navy department order calling for the immediate withdrawal of 1,350 marines from Tientsin, China.

These sea soldiers made up part of the force of 3,800 sent to the Far East in March and April, 1927, after the Nanking incident of March 24 and other serious anti-foreign outbreaks in South China and the Yangtze valley.

Eventually the 500 marines of the Peking legation guard and the 900 regular soldiers of the 15th infantry, stationed to guard the Tientsin-Peking railway, will also be withdrawn, it was said at the state department, although they will be the last to come home.

Peking, July 25.—General Chang
Chung-Chang, former military governor of Shantung and commander of a small army, probably is the most snubbed leader in China's civil strife.

When the northern troops left North China for Manchuria, they declined to take Chang Chung-Chang and his soldiers. When the nationalists arrived, Chang's offer to become a nationalist was refused.

So Chang and his soldiers are stranded in No-Man's Land between Tientsin and the great wall, with the prospect that the nationalists may drive them out.

Chang is said to have a comfortable sum of money in Dairen banks.
But if he leaves his army, his career is ended. No war lord wants to give up an army, even a small one.

SECRETARY OF WAR DAVIS IS OFF FOR HONOLULU TODAY

Washington, July 25.—(UP)—Secretary of War Davis will leave New York today for Honolulu to attend the celebration of the sesquicentennial anniversary of the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, the war department announced today.

FOREST RANGERS FIGHT TO CHECK MANITOBA FIRES

Winnipeg, Man., July 25.—(UP)— Forest rangers fought throughout last night in efforts to check two score bush fires which are raging in the northern mining district of Manitoba. Every available hydroplane of the Royal Canadian Air force has been concentrated near The Pas to carry additional men and equipment to the scene of the fires.

Winnipeg, 500 miles from the scene of the fires, was draped in a pall of smoke all day yesterday and the smoke drifted southward as far as the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Some 3,000 miners are scattered throughout the affected area. It is believed the blazes were caused by prospectors burning off the brush growth to aid them in their search for minerals.

TWO DIE IN ALL NIGHT OIL FIRE AT KINGMAN

PROPERTY LOSS RECORDED ES-TIMATED AT HALF MILLION

HARRY ROGERS AND HAROLD DAVIS, LIVING TORCHES, SHOWERED WITH OIL

Kingman, Ariz., July 25.—(UP)—
Two men were dead and property damage was estimated at more than $500,000 as a result of an all night oil fire that was brought under control today.

Harry Rogers, Los Angeles, and Harold Davis, Kingman, became living torches when showered by exploding gasoline and died from burns.

William St. Charles, who sought to rescue them, suffered serious burns.
H. G. Putnam, another rescuer, was less severely burned.

Chicago, July 25.—(UP)—An investigation of the death here of Mrs. Nora Taylor, about 40, and believed from Duluth, Minn., was being made today.
She was found unconscious in a hotel room here. An empty bottle was beside her bed. Hotel authorities became suspicious after repeated attempts to enter her room and forcibly gained entrance.

THE REPUBLIC OF MEXICO

LEADERS OF OBREGON TO MEET
AND PLAN ON CANDI-DATE

By GESFORD F. FINE
Mexico City, July 25.—The resignation of Luis Morones as secretary of labor has been accepted officially and it is expected now that unofficial selection of a provisional president of Mexico will come within the next few days.

Leaders of the Obregon group, returning to the capital from the funeral of General Alvaro Obregon in Sonora, are expected to confer and decide upon the man who will take the place to which Obregon was elected a few weeks prior to his assassination.

President Plutarco Calles still seems the most likely choice but there is a question whether he will accept the provisional presidency even if a law is created to permit him to succeed himself.

Others prominently mentioned are Governor Aaron Saenz of Nuevo Leon and General Fausto Topete, governor of Sonora. Each is supported by one group of the Obregon party.

There was little or no fear felt for Morones. He has been the center of considerable attention since Obregon was assassinated and a few minutes after the general was killed it was reported Morones too was shot. This proved untrue.

Calles, after accepting Morones' resignation, took opportunity to thank the army for its faithfulness in the trying time of the Obregon assassination—by sending a note in which he again blamed the Catholic clergy for killing Obregon. His note
said:

"On this occasion when a criminal hand, armed by Catholic clergy, has brought sorrow to the entire nation, it is the greatest consolation that the principal chiefs and the army, to the last soldier, have been inspired by the identical revolutionary ideals and conscious of their duty to the country."

RICKARD BUYING NO PROPERTY AT EL PASO

New York, July 25.—(UP)—"Nope, I'm not buying any property" down that way," Tex Rickard said today when asked about reports that he was negotiating for purchase of Albert
B. Fall's ranch near El Paso.

MUTINY ABOARD U. S. FREIGHTER; S O S RADIOED

Shanghai, China, July 25.—(UP)—
A request for police to meet the American freight steamship Olympia, from Tacoma, Wash., was radioed today by her master, who said that some of the crew were mutinous and out of control.

The Olympia is due tonight, and will be met by the American vice consul, the United States marshal, and a squad of police.
The steamship's request for police was sent to L. R. Shinazi, local agent of the Tacoma-Oriental line.

Shanghai, July 25.—A section of the international police force, the United States vice consul and the United States marshal met the American freight steamship Olympia tonight, ready for trouble with a portion of the crew which her master had reported mutinous.

But the master, who had radioed asking that police meet the ship, greeted them with the news that the trouble had been settled, and no arrests were made.

DEPARTURE BETWEEN
AUGUST 10 AND 15

AUTHORITATIVELY LEARNED AT
TODAY

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Cedar Island Lodge, Wis., July 25.— Tentative plans are being made for the departure of President and Mrs. Coolidge for Yellowstone National Park between August 10 and 15, it was learned authoritatively at the summer White House today.

The president and his official party would leave their lodge here on August 12, though no official plans have been formulated.

Mr. Coolidge has not decided, it was said, whether he will remain at his fishing retreat on the Brule or make a protracted visit to the National Park.

The condition of Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, who is ill at Northampton, Mass., may be a deciding factor in the late summer plans of the presidential party.
It is known that the Coolidges are planning a visit to New England.
Mr. Coolidge is said to wish to visit his boyhood home at Plymouth, Vt.
Mr. Coolidge is not expected to return to Washington before Sept.
25, regardless of final plans for his summer vacation.

FROM CHAIRMANSHIP OF CORPORATION

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
OF INDIANA

New York, July 25.—(UP)—The New York World says today that Col. Robert W. Stewart had checkmated John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s efforts to force him out of the chairmanship of the $500,000,000 Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The World says its authority for that statement is an "unimpeachable source" and that Stewart had gained control of 51 per cent of the stock of the company, which he now controls by direct ownership or proxy.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recently demanded Stewart's resignation after the colonel had defied the senate investigating committee which sought to examine him in connection with the deals of the Continental Trading Company.

Rockefeller said Stewart had promised him he would resign if called upon to do so by Rockefeller.
When Rockefeller lost confidence in the chairman, however, and demand-

VETERAN LEADERS CLAIM THAT SMITH HAS APPEAL TO YOUNGER MEN

THEY PLAN TO STRESS PERSON-ALITY OF THE NEW YORK
GOVERNOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 25.—Democratic leaders are planning a special campaign to win the young voter's support for Governor Alfred E. Smith.

This includes those between 21 and 30 years of age, with special emphasis upon the youngsters who will vote for the first time.

Veteran leaders who have grown up with Smith, and know something of psychology through long experience in politics, say he has a particular appeal to the youngsters.
They plan to stress the New York governor's personality to reach this voting class, which is always sizeable and whose party preference is doubtful.

The New York governor's rise from a New York newsboy, will be emphasized in campaign literature for the younger voters. It also will present him in the "happy warrior" role drawn by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There will be something, too, about the young man who rode for miles on his bicycle to court Katy Dunn, now mistress of the executive mansion at Albany, in those days when traffic was not so heavy and there were no "stop-go" lights.

By PERCY B. SCOTT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Albany, N. Y., July 25.—With Gov. Alfred E. Smith ready to launch formally his presidential campaign as democratic standard bearer Aug.
22, plans for handling the enormous crowds expected here that night were begun today by the city administration and members of the democratic national committee.

A platform will be erected half way up the eastern stairway of the capitol, from which the governor will make his acceptance speech. Behind him, special tiers of seats will be set for the guests of the occasion, while an amplifying system will be set up through Capitol Park and Academy Park so that every word the chief executive utters will be audible to the 100,000 or more persons expected.

Word was received here today that the railroads are completing plans for operating special trains into and out of the city.

Hotel reservations began pouring in today, one request being for a block of fifty rooms.

All traffic within the area around the capitol will be stopped half an hour or more before the ceremony begins at 7 P. M.

ed that he give up leadership of the corporation, Stewart refused. He was re-elected to the chairmanship with Rockefeller withholding his votes. Rockefeller owns only 14.9 per cent of the corporation's stock.

If Colonel Stewart has won his fight, the defeat is the most crushing Rockefeller has ever suffered in his long and brilliant business career.

It leaves Stewart in control to complete, if he desires a possible tightening of the alliance between his corporation and the companies of Harry F. Sinclair, with whom he was associated in the mysterious deals of the Continental Trading Co. whose profits found their way into the coffers of the republican party in 1921.

Casper, Wyo., July 25.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, here on an inspection trip, could not be reached to comment on reports from New York that he had gained control of the stock in the company.

Stewart, accompanied by his board of directors arrived here last night by airplane from Kansas City.

Early today he left for the company's fields and said he would not return to Casper until late tonight.

Beat Old Moon Around the Globe

John F. Shory, official timer, is shown at left clocking John Henry Mears and Captain Charles B. D. Collyer upon their arrival at the Battery, New York City, the point from which they started on their record-breaking trip around the world. Their time was 23 days, 15 hours, 21 minutes, 3 seconds, as compared with the former record of 28 days and 15 hours hung up by the Wells-Evans expedition. It requires the moon 27 days and five hours to circumnavigate the globe.

Kingman, Ariz., July 25.—(UP)—Two men were dead and property damage was estimated at more than $500,000 as a result of an all night oil fire that was brought under control today.

Harry Rogers, Los Angeles, and Harold Davis, Kingman, became living torches when showered by exploding gasoline and died from burns.

William St. Charles, who sought to rescue them, suffered serious burns. H. G. Putnam, another rescuer, was less severely burned.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF DULUTH WOMAN

Chicago, July 25.—(UP)—An investigation of the death here of Mrs. Nora Taylor, about 40, and believed from Duluth, Minn., was being made today. She was found unconscious in a hotel room here. An empty bottle was beside her bed. Hotel authorities became suspicious after repeated attempts to enter her room and forcibly gained entrance.

THE REPUBLIC OF MEXICO

LEADERS OF OREGON TO MEET
DATE

By GESFORD F. FINE
Mexico City, July 25.—The resignation of Luis Morones as secretary of labor has been accepted officially and it is expected now that unofficial selection of a provisional president of Mexico will come within the next few days.

Leaders of the Obregon group, returning to the capital from the funeral of General Alvaro Obregon in Sonora, are expected to confer and decide upon the man who will take the place to which Obregon was elected a few weeks prior to his assassination.

President Plutarco Calles still seems the most likely choice but there is a question whether he will accept the provisional presidency even if a law is created to permit him to succeed himself.

Others prominently mentioned are Governor Aaron Saez of Nuevo Leon and General Fausto Topete, governor of Sonora. Each is supported by one group of the Obregon party.

There was little or no fear felt for Morones. He has been the center of considerable attention since Obregon was assassinated and a few minutes after the general was killed it was reported Morones too was shot. This proved untrue.

Calles, after accepting Morones' resignation, took opportunity to thank the army for its faithfulness in the trying time of the Obregon assassination—by sending a note in which he again blamed the Catholic clergy for killing Obregon. His note said:

"On this occasion when a criminal hand, armed by Catholic clergy, has brought sorrow to the entire nation, it is the greatest consolation that the principal chiefs and the army, to the last soldier, have been inspired by the identical revolutionary ideals and conscious of their duty to the country."

MUTINY ABOARD U. S. FREIGHTER; S O S RADIOED

Shanghai, China, July 25.—(UP)—A request for police to meet the American freight steamship Olympia, from Tacoma, Wash., was radioed today by her master, who said that some of the crew were mutinous and out of control.

The Olympia is due tonight, and will be met by the American vice consul, the United States marshal, and a squad of police.

The steamship's request for police was sent to L. R. Shinn, local agent of the Tacoma-Oriental line.

Shanghai, July 25.—A section of the international police force, the United States vice consul and the United States marshal met the American freight steamship Olympia tonight, ready for trouble with a portion of the crew which her master had reported mutinous.

But the master, who had radioed asking that police meet the ship, greeted them with the news that the trouble had been settled, and no arrests were made.

COOLIDGES TO LEAVE FOR YELLOWSTONE

DEPARTURE BETWEEN
AUGUST 10 AND 15

AUTHORITATIVELY LEARNED AT
TODAY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Cedar Island Lodge, Wis., July 25.—Tentative plans are being made for the departure of President and Mrs. Coolidge for Yellowstone National Park between August 10 and 15, it was learned authoritatively at the summer White House today.

The president and his official party would leave their lodge here on August 12, though no official plans have been formulated.

Mr. Coolidge has not decided, it was said, whether he will remain at his fishing retreat on the Brule or make a protracted visit to the National Park.

The condition of Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, who is ill at Northampton, Mass., may be a deciding factor in the late summer plans of the presidential party. It is known that the Coolidges are planning a visit to New England. Mr. Coolidge is said to wish to visit his boyhood home at Plymouth, Vt.

Mr. Coolidge is not expected to return to Washington before Sept. 25, regardless of final plans for his summer vacation.

FROM CHAIRMANSHIP OF CORPORATION

OF INDIANA

New York, July 25.—(UP)—The New York World says today that Col. Robert W. Stewart had checked John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s efforts to force him out of the chairmanship of the $500,000,000 Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The World says its authority for that statement is an "unimpeachable source" and that Stewart had gained control of 51 per cent of the stock of the company, which he now controls by direct ownership or proxy.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., recently demanded Stewart's resignation after the colonel had defied the senate investigating committee which sought to examine him in connection with the deals of the Continental Trading Company.

Rockefeller said Stewart had promised him he would resign if called upon to do so by Rockefeller. When Rockefeller lost confidence in the chairman, however, and demand-

GOVERNOR

By THOMAS L. STOKES

New York, July 25.—Democratic leaders are planning a special campaign to win the young voter's support for Governor Alfred E. Smith.

This includes those between 21 and 30 years of age, with special emphasis upon the youngsters who will vote for the first time.

Veteran leaders who have grown up with Smith, and know something of psychology through long experience in politics, say he has a particular appeal to the youngsters.

They plan to stress the New York governor's personality to reach this voting class, which is always sizeable and whose party preference is doubtful.

The New York governor's rise from a New York newsboy, will be emphasized in campaign literature for the younger voters. It also will present him in the "happy warrior" role drawn by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There will be something, too, about the young man who rode for miles on his bicycle to court Katy Dunn, now mistress of the executive mansion at Albany, in those days when traffic was not so heavy and there were no "stop-go" lights.

By PERCY B. SCOTT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Albany, N. Y., July 25.—With Gov. Alfred E. Smith ready to launch formally his presidential campaign as democratic standard bearer Aug. 22, plans for handling the enormous crowds expected here that night were begun today by the city administration and members of the democratic national committee.

A platform will be erected half way up the eastern stairway of the capitol, from which the governor will make his acceptance speech. Behind him, special tiers of seats will be set for the guests of the occasion, while an amplifying system will be set up through Capitol Park and Academy Park so that every word the chief executive utters will be audible to the 100,000 or more persons expected.

Word was received here today that the railroads are completing plans for operating special trains into and out of the city.

Hotel reservations began pouring in today, one request being for a block of fifty rooms.

All traffic within the area around the capitol will be stopped half an hour or more before the ceremony begins at 7 P. M.

ed that he give up leadership of the corporation, Stewart refused. He was re-elected to the chairmanship with Rockefeller withholding his votes. Rockefeller owns only 14.9 per cent of the corporation's stock. If Colonel Stewart has won his fight, the defeat is the most crushing Rockefeller has ever suffered in his long and brilliant business career.

It leaves Stewart in control to complete, if he desires a possible tightening of the alliance between his corporation and the companies of Harry F. Sinclair, with whom he was associated in the mysterious deals of the Continental Trading Co., whose profits found their way into the coffers of the republican party in 1921.

Casper, Wyo., July 25.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, here on an inspection trip, could not be reached to comment on reports from New York that he had gained control of the stock in the company.

Stewart, accompanied by his board of directors arrived here last night by airplane from Kansas City.

Early today he left for the company's fields and said he would not return to Casper until late tonight.

ADMITS NECESSITY OF GRASS GREENS

Dispatch Editorial

CLUB PUTS IN TWO THIS YEAR Brainerd Country Club Should Have More Business Men on Its Rolls

The Dispatch has received the following reply to an editorial urging grass greens at the Brainerd Country club links:

Your editorial in last night's Dispatch brings up a question that I believe should be of deep interest to the business men of Brainerd. You say it is about time that the Country club got busy and put in grass greens for they must do something to hold the tourists here. I have talked with many tourists and they all tell me that our course is a very fine course except that we need grass greens. They usually ask why we haven't got them, and of course we have told them that we could not afford it. Last year we had to tell them we had 50 members. This year we can tell them we have 60, but even at that they cannot understand why we haven't more members. One man last week from a town our size in Iowa said they had over a hundred members, and their annual dues were $38.00 against our $25.00.

Take the first city you mention—Bemidji. I understand the golf club of Bemidji was organized by a group of business men putting in $100 each. It was purely a civic proposition. They started with nine grass greens and now have 18, and the course is more than self supporting, their green fees running over $5000.00 a year. The last club you mention—Detroit Lakes—was handled the same way and is in the same situation as to green fees. This year the State Amateur was held in Bemidji with 200 players and as many spectators spending a whole week in Bemidji. Next year Detroit Lakes will have the crowd. Would the business men of Brainerd like to see 400 people here for a whole week.

The Brainerd Country club should have more business men on its roll. The following is a list of those who are supporting the club; and it is apparent that there should be more business men and citizens interested: hotels, 2 (from one hotel); restaurants, 0; garages, 2; doctors, 3; dentists, 2; clothiers, 2; jewelers, 1; meat markets, 1; realtors, 1; druggists, 1; grocers, 5; lumber yards, 1; lawyers, 5; insurance, 1; salesmen, 2; newspaper, 1; retired, 5; salaried, 21.

Not many miles from Brainerd two summer resorts built 18 hole golf courses to develop their tourist business and put thousands of dollars into the venture, and are already collecting the dividends. If "the business men of the city of Brainerd have come to realize the importance of cooperating" then Brainerd can have a fine golf course that will hold the tourist near Brainerd. The club has made a fine start. All we need is nine grass greens. The club is able this year to build two greens. These will be planted in the next ten days. We can add two greens a year. Mr. Business Man, do you want to wait until 1933 for the increase in tourist business that grass greens will bring, or are you now convinced that grass greens in 1929 will bring enough new business to repay you for getting back of this movement? Last year we had 600 tourists play on the course. That averages 10 a day for July and August. If we had grass greens it would be ten times that many. But cut that in half. With 50 tourists a day playing a golf course two miles from Brainerd, how many would come into Brainerd to spend a little time in your store, restaurant or hotel. Will it pay you to get behind the golf club?

I am informed that Mr. Baker of Grand View lodge went to the Cities this past year to persuade a convention to come to his lodge. He was making fine progress, and among the things he told them was that he was within 30 minutes of a fine nine hole golf course. That seemed to settle the matter, but some one asked what kind of greens they had. He told them sand greens, and I understand he was dropped like a hot potato. That convention would have brought 80 delegates to our community for three days.

The grounds committee estimated last winter that it would cost $2000 a green to build new grass greens, and were ordered by the board of directors to go ahead and build two. These two greens are not quite complete, but I am informed that the estimate of $300 is correct. Sauk Center put in their greens at an average cost of $300 per green. This means we need $2100.

The board of directors are having a regular meeting tonight. We shall be glad to have any business men come to our meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and give their views on what can be done to keep the tourist near Brainerd. The club members or the directors will be glad at any other time to meet with the business men and work out a plan along this line. While there are over half the club members who are not directly interested in the tourist business, still the club as a whole will get behind any proposition that is for the best interest of Brainerd. It must not be forgotten that when we get in grass greens, the tourists playing the course will so crowd the course that our own members will not be able to go out at any hour of the day and start playing without delay as they do now. A twosome can now make the circuit in about an hour, a foursome in an hour and a half. This cannot be done when our tourists players equal the market set by Bemidji and Detroit Lakes and other clubs. So that the club members are giving up something when they get behind grass greens.

Would it not be well for the president of the Chamber of Commerce to call a meeting of the business men to consider this proposition? I promise you the whole hearted support of the Brainerd Country club in any plan that will bring more tourists to Brainerd and keep them here.

Brainerd yours,
EDWARD J. EGAN,
Secretary Brainerd Country club.

They hope to span the Atlantic in a single-motored plane of the type used by Colonel Charles Lindbergh in his New York to Paris flight.

Madison, Fla., July 25.—(U.P.)—Two negroes, Bill Reed and Tom Murphy, were held here in connection with the murder of E. E. Quinker, Valdosta, Ga., manufacturer, whose charred body was found near here yesterday.

Police believe Quinker was waylaid, and shot to death, his body covered with gasoline drawn from his car and ignited. He was said to have been carrying a large sum of money.

Bloodhounds followed a scent to the home of the two negroes.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 25.—(U.P.)—Stock- holders of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car company will meet today to pass on the plan for formation of a new company, to be closely affiliated with the Studebaker corporation.

The proposed plan calls for redemption of Pierce-Arrow preferred and common stock, the stockholders to receive for their holdings a certain cash amount and stock in the new company.

"Road to Rain" Powerful Story of Juvenile Delinquency

There is no doubt that the most vital question of the day is Juvenile Delinquency. This topic, which has recently been brought forcibly to the attention of the public by a series of atrocious juvenile crimes, over- shadows the liquor question, politics, everything—and the problem must be solved if society is to endure.

The work of the Juvenile Authori- ties is strongly depicted in "The Road to Rain" which has its last showings tonight at the Park The- atre.

ADMITS NECESSITY OF GRASS GREENS

Edward J. Egan, Secretary Brainerd Country Club, Answers
Dispatch Editorial

CLUB PUTS IN TWO THIS YEAR Brainerd Country Club Should Have More Business Men on Its Rosters

The Dispatch has received the following reply to an editorial urging grass greens at the Brainerd Country club links:

Your editorial in last night's Dispatch brings up a question that I believe should be of deep interest to the business men of Brainerd. You say it is about time that the Country club got busy and put in grass greens for they must do something to hold the tourists here. I have talked with many tourists and they all tell me that our course is a very fine course except that we need grass greens. They usually ask why we haven't got them, and of course we have told them that we could not afford it. Last year we had to tell them we had 50 members. This year we can tell them we have 60, but even at that they cannot understand why we haven't more members. One man last week from a town our size in Iowa said they had over a hundred members, and their annual dues were $38.00 against our $25.00.

Take the first city you mention—Bemidji. I understand the golf club of Bemidji was organized by a group of business men putting in $100 each. It was purely a civic proposition. They started with nine grass greens and now have 18, and the course is more than self-supporting, their green fees running over $5000.00 a year. The last club you mention—Detroit Lakes—was handled the same way and is in the same situation as to green fees. This year the State Amateur was held in Bemidji with 200 players and as many spectators spending a whole week in Bemidji. Next year Detroit Lakes will have the crowd. Would the business men of Brainerd like to see 400 people here for a whole week.

The Brainerd Country club should have more business men on its roll. The following is a list of those who are supporting the club; and it is apparent that there should be more business men and citizens interested: hotels, 2 (from one hotel); restaurants, 6; garages, 2; doctors, 3; dentists, 2; clothiers, 2; jewelers, 1; meat markets, 1; realtors, 1; druggists, 1; grocers, 5; lumber yards, 1; lawyers, 5; insurance, 1; salesmen, 2; newspaper, 1; retired, 5; salaried, 21.

Not many miles from Brainerd two summer resorts built 18 hole golf courses to develop their tourist business and put thousands of dollars into the venture, and are already collecting the dividends. If "the business men of the city of Brainerd have come to realize the importance of cooperating" then Brainerd can have a fine golf course that will hold the tourist near Brainerd. The club has made a fine start. All we need is nine grass greens. The club is able this year to build two greens. These will be planted in the next ten days. We can add two greens a year. Mr. Business Man, do you want to wait until 1933 for the increase in tourist business that grass greens will bring, or are you now convinced that grass greens in 1929 will bring enough new business to repay you for getting back of this movement? Last year we had 600 tourists play on the course. That averages 10 a day for July and August. If we had grass greens it would be ten times that many. But cut that in half. With 50 tourists a day playing a golf course two miles from Brainerd, how many would come into Brainerd to spend a little time in your store, restaurant or hotel. Will it pay you to get behind the golf club?

I am informed that Mr. Baker of Grand View lodge went to the Cities this past year to persuade a convention to come to his lodge. He was making fine progress, and among the things he told them was that he was within 30 minutes of a fine nine hole golf course. That seemed to settle the matter, but some one asked what kind of greens they had. He told them sand greens, and I understand he was dropped like a hot potato. That convention would have brought 80 delegates to our community for three days.

The grounds committee estimated last winter that it would cost $2000 a green to build new grass greens, and were ordered by the board of directors to go ahead and build two. These two greens are not quite complete, but I am informed that the estimate of $300 is correct. Sank Center put in their greens at an average cost of $300 per green. This means we need $2100.

The board of directors are having a regular meeting tonight. We shall be glad to have any business men come to our meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and give their views on what can be done to keep the tourist near Brainerd. The club members or the directors will be glad at any other time to meet with the business men and work out a plan along this line. While there are over half the club members who are not directly interested in the tourist business, still the club as a whole will get behind any proposition that is for the best interest of Brainerd. It must not be forgotten that when we get in grass greens, the tourists playing the course will so crowd the course that our own members will not be able to go out at any hour of the day and start playing without delay as they do now. A twosome can now make the circuit in about an hour, a foursome in an hour and a half. This cannot be done when our tourists players equal the mark set by Bemidji and Detroit Lakes and other clubs. So that the club members are giving up something when they get behind grass greens.

Would it not be well for the president of the Chamber of Commerce to call a meeting of the business men to consider this proposition? I promise you the whole-hearted support of the Brainerd Country club in any plan that will bring more tourists to Brainerd and keep them here.

Brainerdly yours,
EDWARD J. EGAN,
Secretary Brainerd Country club.

Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles T. P. Ulm, pilots of the monoplane Southern Cross on its

They hope to span the Atlantic in a single-motored plane of the type used by Colonel Charles Lindbergh in his New York to Paris flight.

ALFRED E. SMITH AND THE SALOON

ALFRED E. SMITH and his managers say that they are for the restoration of the right of States to decide whether their citizens may use intoxicating beverages in their homes, but that they do not want the saloon back. They agree, at least by implication, that the saloon was a terrible thing, and would be a terrible thing if restored, says the Minneapolis Journal editorially.

But what did Alfred E. Smith, as a member of the New York Assembly long before the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, ever do to help keep within the bounds of at least a semblance of decency, those bar-rooms which he and his managers now concede should have been abolished?

William Allen White, speaking at Olathe, Kansas, some days ago, charged flatly that Mr. Smith, as Assemblyman, had voted ten times against "allowing the people to vote on any sort of restriction of the sale of liquor." He charged that Assemblyman Smith had voted four times against measures designed to eliminate gambling and prostitution in connection with saloons; three times to lift the Sunday saloon lid; three times against bills making it easier to convict violators of liquor regulations; four times to remove zoning restrictions, thereby opening to the saloon the immediate vicinity of a church or school; and three times for bills known to be favored by the gambling interests.

Governor Smith, reading Mr. White's charges, grows hot under the collar. He denounces the charges as "nonsense," as inspired by an inveterate political enemy, the Reverend O. R. Miller of Albany. He accuses Mr. White of utter ignorance regarding what has happened at Albany. He insists that nobody takes any stock in what Miller says, though Mr. White says he never has seen Miller, nor had he ever heard of Miller, until he read Governor Smith's reply.

But, despite his anger, Governor Smith does not deny all the White charges. To his knowledge, he says, there never was before the Legislature, any proposal to stop prostitution and gambling in saloons. Well, there should have been.

He has no recollection, he says, that any bill to repeal the Sunday saloon ban ever reached the floor of the Assembly. But he does not deny flatly that he ever favored such a move.

He did favor, he concedes, the removal of zoning restrictions keeping saloons away from churches and schools, for the reason that the courts had held that these restrictions jeopardized the bars of such famous New York hotels as the Astor, the Knickerbocker and the Waldorf. Well, what of that, if bar-rooms were such terrible places as the Smith camp now professes to believe?

But the indictment of Governor Smith as an out-and-out friend of the saloon in his Assembly days does not rest solely upon Mr. White's charges, nor yet upon any propaganda disseminated by the Reverend Mr. Miller.

Four years ago, on June 24, 1924, the Christian Science Monitor said that Alfred E. Smith, as Assemblyman, had invariably voted against local option; had opposed reform of the notorious Raines Law; accomplished, as Speaker, defeat of a move to check delivery of liquor into dry territory; had favored making hotels in local option territory superior to the law; had supported the Walker Bill to extend the hours of liquor selling in saloons; had voted to remove all restrictions protecting schools and churches from saloons; and, as Speaker, had engineered passage of a bill permitting establishment of saloons within two hundred feet of a private school.

If the saloon was a terrible thing, then Alfred E. Smith should have been voting to make it less terrible, rather than to make it more terrible, as charged by the Christian Science Monitor more than four years ago, and, so far as we are aware, not since refuted or even denied. These charges cannot be brushed away by denouncing Mr. White's ignorance nor Mr. Miller's animosity. Either Mr. Smith voted to preserve and extend the privileges of New York saloons, as the Monitor has charged, or he didn't. Let's have the records.

PRIDE IN OUR CITIES

O. HENRY once wrote an amusing story about a supposedly cosmopolitan man who sat in a cafe and made fun of all people who are consumed by pride in their cities. Just as his argument reached its climax, the man broke it off to slug the jaw of a man who made a slurring remark about Kennebunkport, Maine.

"That was his home town and he wouldn't stand no knockin' of the place," remarked a bystander.

O. Henry was only recognizing the fact that local pride is an inbred American characteristic that none of us ever quite outgrows. Our patriotism begins by being aggressively provincial. Many a man has perspired hugely to advance the theory that poverty-stricken, out-at-the-heels Muddy Flats "is the most hustling, up and coming town of its size in the Middle West," when all his hearers, having seen the place, knew that he was deluding himself pitifully.

This is sometimes laughable. But there is a sound reason for this traditional pride, and it has been a highly important factor in our national growth.

The past century saw a tremendous expansion in America. First there were wildernesses and untitled plains to be settled, cleared and turned into fruitful farm lands. Then there were mines to be dug, railroads to be built, factories to be established, industries to start. It was an enormous job; the most enormous of its kind ever undertaken on earth. It required the entire attention of all the people. No time was left for the refinements of life. New towns were ugly and raw, but the people were too busy to beautify them. Men and women had to put up with drabness and uncouthness.

So they compensated themselves by pretending that the drabness and uncouthness did not exist. They made up for lack of color and beauty by telling one another that their towns were progressive, charming, delightful. They pretended that desolate, God-forsaken settlements were outposts of the promised land. Cities whose ugliness shocked Europeans into amazed silence were extolled as the finest habitations man had ever brought forth.

And, oddly enough, in all of these posturings there came to be a grain of truth. Dimly and with much befuddlement, Americans sensed that this new country was not like any other country; that it held the seeds of something better, nobler, finer than anything that had gone before. A vision of freedom, happiness and richness shone before their eyes. They foresaw poverty and ignorance finally conquered and a new race, triumphant and strong, arising to give beauty and color to the cities they had founded.

That is why the American booster, often laughable, is being justified by his works. At bottom he was, and is, right. Muddy Flats will yet outshine Paris.—Superior Telegram.

French Sailors Tell

Story of "Dog Island"

An "Isle of Dogs" on the west of Madagascar is a discovery made by a French sailing boat and reported by the Frankfurter Zeitung. The captain of this boat put ashore on the small island of Juan de Neve in the belief that he had caught sight of a wreck close by. But the island was uninhabited save for a large white dog resembling a terrier, which was shortly joined on the beach by four more of the kind. After having surveyed the newcomers inquiringly, the dogs set up a long-drawn howl, which appeared to be a signal for 20 more to join them. Their appearance not proving very friendly, apart from the weirdness of the many canine races that appeared to have been crossed, the sailormen put off again, noting that the first white terrier, which appeared to be the leader of the pack, watched them out to sea long after the others had disappeared again among the undergrowth. The island resounded with howls, not barks. Though the skeptical may be inclined to relegate the tale to the fairy realms that seamen love, one remembers the strange attack by Thames swans mentioned in "Three Men in a Boat." There is evidence for its authenticity.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Raven Led Voyagers

to Iceland's Shores

Though Iceland now belongs to Denmark, it was discovered by the MacDougalls of Argyllshire, ancestors of the family which now resides at Dunollie castle, and whose eldest daughter is known by the picturesque name of the "Maid of Lorn."

In early days the MacDougalls were sea rovers, and when on their adventurous voyages they always had with them several ravens—their mascot bird. Sailing along the sea northward on a voyage of discovery, a MacDougall chief let loose a raven, hoping it would show where land lay, but the bird returned in the direction whence they had come.

Continuing their voyage, another raven was released, and after circling around overhead, it came back to the ship. Knowing the raven's unerring instinct for making for land, they knew there was none near.

On they sailed, and then let loose another bird, which set off in the direction they were sailing. Following it, these intrepid voyagers of the western isles reached the unknown land of Iceland.

Newton Admired Crimson

Search in the records of Somerset House has disclosed the complete inventory of the furniture and plenishing of Sir Isaac Newton's house in St. Martin's in the Fields in 1727. The document took the inconvenient form of about fifteen feet of strips of vellum. Sir Isaac's favorite color for hangings was crimson. He had it in most of his rooms, the material being mohair backed with canvas. His taste in furniture ran towards walnut. He held a large private library for that period, and it must have taken up much space, for more than half of the 1,896 books were folios or quartos.

Lost Art

That oral reading is rapidly becoming a lost art has been recognized.

Robert, age three, was sitting on the floor reading his new story book in a manner entirely satisfactory to himself. His mother, who had a few minutes to spare, said, "Bring the book to mother and she'll read the story to you."

"I am almost through with the story—then you can have the book if you want to read it. I can read something else while you read this," replied the child.

Delayed Rising

Once upon a time a young married woman undertook to make a batch of bread and the dough failed to rise. A place where she thought hubby would not find it was chosen for its grave and a flat stone was placed thereon. One day as hubby was strolling along that way he saw something that tickled him immensely. He went to the house and said to his wife: "You had better go out and bury your corpse again; I see it's raised." The sun had shone on the stone and the dough becoming warm had raised.

Clever Dog

"Well, you have the house all to yourself while Mrs. Peckton is away."

"Not quite," said Mr. Peckton. "I share the premises with Mrs. Peckton's poodle, who was left in my care. I'm afraid the intelligent animal has modeled its behavior on that of its mistress."

"How so?"

"When I try to make myself comfortable with a cigar and a newspaper it eyes me with marked disfavor."

His Explanation

Walter, who was having trouble with subtraction, showed a problem which he had just finished to his father.

"Is this right, daddy?"

"No, son, it's not right," dad replied. "I can't understand why you have so much trouble with subtraction," he continued. "When I was in school I did it without any trouble."

"I guess subtraction mustn't be easy those days," son replied.

TOO MUCH TO BELIEVE!

The chauffeur was holding forth in the village inn.

"Yes, my young guv'nor rowed for Hoxford a little while back, 'e did." His audience stared.

"Yes, 'e wins 'undreds of races," went on the chauffeur, warming to his task. "An 'e always 'as the name an' the date painted on 'is scull."

But this was too much for one listener.

"On 'is scull?" he echoed indignantly. "Lummie, 'e must 'ave an 'ead like an elephant!"—London Answers.

ALFRED E. SMITH AND THE SALOON

ALFRED E. SMITH and his managers say that they are for the restoration of the right of States to decide whether their citizens may use intoxicating beverages in their homes, but that they do not want the saloon back. They agree, at least by implication, that the saloon was a terrible thing, and would be a terrible thing if restored, says the Minneapolis Journal editorially.

But what did Alfred E. Smith, as a member of the New York Assembly long before the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, ever do to help keep within the bounds of at least a semblance of decency, those bar-rooms which he and his managers now concede should have been abolished?

William Allen White, speaking at Olathe, Kansas, some days ago, charged flatly that Mr. Smith, as Assemblyman, had voted ten times against "allowing the people to vote on any sort of restriction of the sale of liquor." He charged that Assemblyman Smith had voted four times against measures designed to eliminate gambling and prostitution in connection with saloons; three times to lift the Sunday saloon lid; three times against bills making it easier to convict violators of liquor regulations; four times to remove zoning restrictions, thereby opening to the saloon the immediate vicinity of a church or school; and three times for bills known to be favored by the gambling interests.

Governor Smith, reading Mr. White's charges, grows hot under the collar. He denounces the charges as "nonsense," as inspired by an inveterate political enemy, the Reverend O. R. Miller of Albany. He accuses Mr. White of utter ignorance regarding what has happened at Albany. He insists that nobody takes any stock in what Miller says, though Mr. White says he never has seen Miller, nor had he ever heard of Miller, until he read Governor Smith's reply.

But, despite his anger, Governor Smith does not deny all the White charges. To his knowledge, he says, there never was before the Legislature, any proposal to stop prostitution and gambling in saloons. Well, there should have been.

He has no recollection, he says, that any bill to repeal the Sunday saloon ban ever reached the floor of the Assembly. But he does not deny flatly that he ever favored such a move.

He did favor, he concedes, the removal of zoning restrictions keeping saloons away from churches and schools, for the reason that the courts had held that these restrictions jeopardized the bars of such famous New York hotels as the Astor, the Knickerbocker and the Waldorf. Well, what of that, if bar-rooms were such terrible places as the Smith camp now professes to believe?

But the indictment of Governor Smith as an out-and-out friend of the saloon in his Assembly days does not rest solely upon Mr. White's charges, nor yet upon any propaganda disseminated by the Reverend Mr. Miller.

Four years ago, on June 24, 1924, the Christian Science Monitor said that Alfred E. Smith, as Assemblyman, had invariably voted against local option; had opposed reform of the notorious Raines Law; accomplished, as Speaker, defeat of a move to check delivery of liquor into dry territory; had favored making hotels in local option territory superior to the law; had supported the Walker Bill to extend the hours of liquor selling in saloons; had voted to remove all restrictions protecting schools and churches from saloons; and, as Speaker, had engineered passage of a bill permitting establishment of saloons within two hundred feet of a private school.

If the saloon was a terrible thing, then Alfred E. Smith should have been voting to make it less terrible, rather than to make it more terrible, as charged by the Christian Science Monitor more than four years ago, and, so far as we are aware, not since refuted or even denied. These charges cannot be brushed away by denouncing Mr. White's ignorance nor Mr. Miller's animosity. Either Mr. Smith voted to preserve and extend the privileges of New York saloons, as the Monitor has charged, or he didn't. Let's have the records.

PRIDE IN OUR CITIES

O. HENRY once wrote an amusing story about a supposedly cosmopolitan man who sat in a cafe and made fun of all people who are consumed by pride in their cities. Just as his argument reached its climax, the man broke it off to slug the jaw of a man who made a slurring remark about Kennebunkport, Maine.

"That was his home town and he wouldn't stand no knockin' of the place," remarked a bystander.

O. Henry was only recognizing the fact that local pride is an inbred American characteristic that none of us ever quite outgrows. Our patriotism begins by being aggressively provincial. Many a man has perspired hugely to advance the theory that poverty-stricken, out-at-the-heels Muddy Flats "is the most hustling, up and coming town of its size in the Middle West," when all his hearers, having seen the place, knew that he was deluding himself pitifully.

This is sometimes laughable. But there is a sound reason for this traditional pride, and it has been a highly important factor in our national growth.

The past century saw a tremendous expansion in America. First there were wildernesses and untilled plains to be settled, cleared and turned into fruitful farm lands. Then there were mines to be dug, railroads to be built, factories to be established, industries to start. It was an enormous job; the most enormous of its kind ever undertaken on earth. It required the entire attention of all the people. No time was left for the refinements of life. New towns were ugly and raw, but the people were too busy to beautify them. Men and women had to put up with drabness and uncouthness.

So they compensated themselves by pretending that the drabness and uncouthness did not exist. They made up for lack of color and beauty by telling one another that their towns were progressive, charming, delightful. They pretended that desolate, God-forsaken settlements were outposts of the promised land. Cities whose ugliness shocked Europeans into amazed silence were extolled as the finest habitations man had ever brought forth.

And, oddly enough, in all of these posturings there came to be a grain of truth. Dimly and with much befuddlement, Americans sensed that this new country was not like any other country; that it held the seeds of something better, nobler, finer than anything that had gone before. A vision of freedom, happiness and richness shone before their eyes. They foresaw poverty and ignorance finally conquered and a new race, triumphant and strong, arising to give beauty and color to the cities they had founded.

That is why the American booster, often laughable, is being justified by his works. At bottom he was, and is, right. Muddy Flats will yet outshine Paris.—Superior Telegram.

French Sailors Tell

Story of "Dog Island"

An "Isle of Dogs" on the west of Madagascar is a discovery made by a French sailing boat and reported by the Frankfurter Zeitung. The captain of this boat put ashore on the small island of Juan de Neve in the belief that he had caught sight of a wreck close by. But the island was uninhabited save for a large white dog resembling a terrier, which was shortly joined on the beach by four more of the kind. After having surveyed the newcomers inquiringly, the dogs set up a long-drawn howl, which appeared to be a signal for 20 more to join them. Their appearance not proving very friendly, apart from the weirdness of the many canine races that appeared to have been crossed, the sailormen put off again, noting that the first white terrier, which appeared to be the leader of the pack, watched them out to sea long after the others had disappeared again among the undergrowth. The island resounded with howls, not barks. Though the skeptical may be inclined to relegate the tale to the fairy realm, the seamen love, one remembers the strange attack by Thamus swans mentioned in "Three Men in a Boat." There is evidence for its authenticity.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Raven Led Voyagers

to Iceland's Shores

Though Iceland now belongs to Denmark, it was discovered by the MacDougalls of Argyllshire, ancestors of the family which now resides at Dunollie castle, and whose eldest daughter is known by the picturesque name of the "Maid of Lorn."

In early days the MacDougalls were sea rovers, and when on their adventurous voyages they always had with them several ravens—their mascot bird. Sailing along the sea northward on a voyage of discovery, a MacDougall chief let loose a raven, hoping it would show where land lay, but the bird returned in the direction whence they had come.

Continuing their voyage, another raven was released, and after circling around overhead, it came back to the ship. Knowing the raven's unerring instinct for making for land, they knew there was none near.

On they sailed, and then let loose another bird, which set off in the direction they were sailing. Following it, these intrepid voyagers of the western isles reached the unknown land of Iceland.

Newton Admired Crimson

Search in the records of Somerset House has disclosed the complete inventory of the furniture and plenishing of Sir Isaac Newton's house in St. Martin's in the Fields in 1727. The document took the inconvenient form of about fifteen feet of strips of vellum. Sir Isaac's favorite color for hangings was crimson. He had it in most of his rooms, the material being mohair backed with canvas. His taste in furniture ran towards walnut. He held a large private library for that period, and it must have taken up much space, for more than half of the 1,896 books were folios or quartos.

Lost Art

That oral reading is rapidly becoming a lost art has been recognized.

Robert, age three, was sitting on the floor reading his new story book in a manner entirely satisfactory to himself. His mother, who had a few minutes to spare, said, "Bring the book to mother and she'll read the story to you."

"I am almost through with the story—then you can have the book if you want to read it. I can read something else while you read this," replied the child.

Delayed Rising

Once upon a time a young married woman undertook to make a batch of bread and the dough failed to rise. A place where she thought hubby would not find it was chosen for its grave and a flat stone was placed thereon. One day as hubby was strolling along that way he saw something that tickled him immensely. He went to the house and said to his wife: "You had better go out and bury your corpse again; I see it's raised." The sun had shone on the stone and the dough becoming warm had raised.

Clever Dog

"Well, you have the house all to yourself while Mrs. Peckton is away."

"Not quite," said Mr. Peckton. "I share the premises with Mrs. Peckton's poodle, who was left in my care. I'm afraid the intelligent animal has modeled its behavior on that of its mistress."

"How so?"

"When I try to make myself comfortable with a cigar and a newspaper it eyes me with marked disfavor."

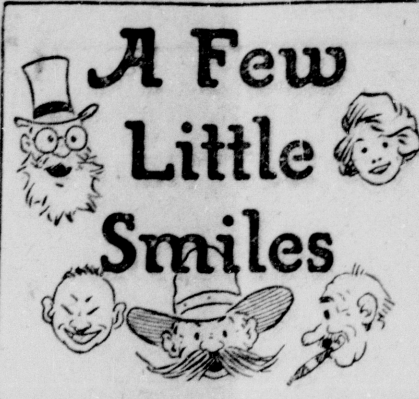

His Explanation

Walter, who was having trouble with subtraction, showed a problem which he had just finished to his father.

"Is this right, daddy?"

"No, son, it's not right," dad replied. "I can't understand why you have so much trouble with subtraction," he continued. "When I was in school I did it without any trouble."

"I guess subtraction musta been easy those days," son replied.

TOO MUCH TO BELIEVE!

The chauffeur was holding forth in the village inn.

"Yus, my young guv'nor rowed for Hoxford a little while back, 'e did."

His audience stared.

"Yus, 'e wins 'undreds of races," went on the chauffeur, warming to his task. "An 'e always 'as the name an' the date painted on 'is skull."

But this was too much for one listener.

"On 'is skull?" he echoed indignantly. "Lumme, 'e must 'ave an 'ead like an elephant!"—London Answers.

Their Daily Quarrel

Angelina—I'm afraid you'll forget me while you're away.

Edwin—My dearest, I'll think of you when all else is forgotten.

Angelina—Just what I feared. You'll think of me only when you've nothing else to think about.

Baited

"He is such a good fisherman," remarked one angler to another, "that he can almost talk the trout out of the water."

"Ah," replied his friend, "he must use baited breath."

CAN'T FOOL 'EM ANYMORE

"Young man, I don't believe you could even buy my daughter's clothes."

"Why sure I could! She don't wear hardly none at all."

Patriotic

Our father slipped upon the ice because he couldn't stand; He saw the glorious Stars and Stripes, We saw our father land.

Alfred and Eloise

"There are some pleasant occupations in life," remarked Alfred.

"For instance?" inquired Eloise.

"Look at the book reviewer, paid to read novels, and the movie hero, paid to make love."

Coign of Vantage

The agent explained that the house being on the brow of a hill had windows overlooking the entire city.

"Just the place, dearie," declared the husband. "You needn't miss anything."

In Modern Terms

City Banker (visiting the farm)—I suppose that's the hired man?

Farmer (who had visited banks)—No, that's the first vice president in charge of cows.

Maybe So

"Money talks."

"Must choose its own time then. Otherwise a bank would be noisier than a boiler factory."

Cure

"That druggist is never bothered with loafers."

"How's that?"

"He sells life insurance on the side."

NUT SO FAR OFF

"Say, Jim, is that fellah a nut?"

"Not so loud Bill! He's one of today's most popular song writers."

Reminiscence

Fond memories cause strange unrest, Though festive be the present mood; And just when we are happiest, A little 'ear will still intrude.

In Class

The boy was asked to define ignorance. He stammered and stuttered. The teacher finally marked him ninety. And she gave her reasons.

"If he couldn't define it, he gave an example of it."

Some Luck

"First Burglar—Did you have any luck in that house?"

Second Burglar—You bet! I found a packet of love letters and I'll copy them and send them to my girl. That'll win her for me.

Popular Costume

Wife (putting on fancy dress)—Oh, bother! They haven't put enough hooks on this costume!

Husband—Never mind—there'll be plenty of eyes on it.

To Handle the Pipes

Cinema Manager (to proprietor)—By the way, sir, there's something the matter with the pipes of the organ.

Plutoerut—Well, get a good plumber in.

Proof

"Did you water the fern, Nora?"

"Sure, mum. Don't you hear the water dripping on the carpet?"

Agricultural Hints

Do not cut the alfalfa unless the weeds are too numerous.

Good farming plus the silo are the main weapons of offense and defense against the European corn borer.

Millet and sudan grass may make a good amount of hay, but it is not well adapted for dairy feed because of the low protein content.

A very high percentage of the fertility value of manure is lost through leaching. The way to stop this loss is to get the manure out on the fields.

Nature abhors a bare spot and tries to cover it over with some sort of growth, even if it be only noxious weeds. Follow nature, but keep the ground covered with food crops, instead of weeds.

All Wet

The prize for the saddest event of the month goes to the motorist who lost himself one dark night. He saw a sign on a post. With difficulty he climbed it and struck a match and read, "Wet paint."—Open Road.

IF HEENEY WINS, NEXT BIG FIGHT WILL BE HELD IN LONDON

DISCOVERER OF NEW ZEALAND VOICES OPINION

JACK DEMPSEY WOULD GET THE
CALL TO FIGHT, SAYS BERNARD MORTIMER

TRAINER SAYS IT HAS BEEN A PLEASURE TO WORK WITH HEENEY

By STAN ERSKINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Fairhaven, N. J., July 25.—If Tom Heeneey wins the heavyweight championship of the world in New York Thursday night, it is likely that the next title bout will be held in London. That is the opinion voiced by Bernard Mortimer, discoverer of Heeneey.

Heeneey is a man without temperament. No one knows him better than his trainer, Jimmie Hennessey, with whom he will be in seclusion today and the majority of the time until the fight.

The last few days have been much easier for Heeneey than his friends could expect. He is in the best of mental condition. In fact, it seems at times Heeneey thinks little of the big party Tex Rickard will stage at the Yankee Stadium.

Charlie Harvey, his American manager, thought Heeneey was a bit lonesome for his homeland. Each day he received a number of telegrams and letters from friends in New Zealand.

By HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 25.—Tex Rickard, promoter of battles of the century, was busy today studying two sets of statistics. One of them is a box office statement; the other is the United States government weather report.

When he said "forecast for Thursday, July 26, generally fair and not much change in temperature," he smiled. When he read "advance seat sale for Tunney-Heeneey fight—$625,000," he groaned.

Clear skies alone can keep Rickard from losing money on a prize fight for the first time in his career as a promoter. If Thursday dawns fair and stays that way, the eleventh-hour ticket sale may bring the total to $800,000, thereby enabling him to break even.

It was announced today that 600 policemen would be scattered through Yankee Stadium tomorrow night to see that fighting is confined strictly to the ring. In addition there will be 600 ushers and 250 gamemen.

The betting began to lengthen this morning, and it was reported in Wall street that 3 to 1 odds, with Tunney on the heavy end, were easy to obtain.

Predictions were made that before nightfall the champion would be a 4 to 1 favorite.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Speculator, N. Y., July 25.—The shadow of Jack Dempsey has fallen across tomorrow night's heavyweight championship bout between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeneey.

When the roar of the crowd swells into that tumultuous tidal wave of sound which the old Manassa Mauler so often evoked, Jack Dempsey will not be in one corner of the ring for the first time since that broiling afternoon at Toledo, nine years ago when he battered the giant Jess Willard to the canvas.

Tunney, whose forte is boxing, skill and science, wants to be a killer, and he will crawl into the ring at the Yankee Stadium bent on beating down Tom Heeneey, not by artistry, but the lethal fists that made Jack Dempsey the greatest drawing card in the history of pugilism.

The champion completed his training here in a blaze of vicious punching. Tunney beat a murderous tattoo on the bodies of Harold Mays and Billy Vidabeck. There were moments in the champion's final workout when his style revived memories of Dempsey.

The champion spent a quiet night in his isolated hut in the heart of pine clad mountain tops four miles

LOCAL PLAYERS TO PAIR WITH TOURISTS; PLAY TO GET UNDERWAY AT 2 P. M.

RETURN MATCH WITH CUYUNA RANGE CLUB TO BE PLAYED HERE SATURDAY

The fourth annual tourist tournament of the Brainerd Country club starting at 2 P. M. Sunday bids fair to outdo all previous attempts. In the past between 50 and 75 golfing tourists have participated. They are from nearly every state in the union. Many tourists have made it a point to return for this event each year. It has been the aim of the tournament committee to attract as many as possible to the course and thus keep them near Brainerd.

This year's tournament is somewhat of a departure from previous ones. In the past merchandise has been donated by the business men and offered as prizes for the best scores. This year the committee has purchased three silver loving cups and had them suitably engraved. These will be awarded to those tourists who turn in the three lowest scores. In addition many golf balls will be given away to those next in line.

Everything is free on this day to the summer visitors. There is no entrance or green fee charged and all refreshments are free in the club house. Each tourist is paired with a local player and eighteen holes are played. Medal score is kept and there will be no match play. A large entry is expected and the tournament committee requests that every local golfer turn out on this day. The event has been well advertised throughout the lake region.

On Saturday afternoon the Cuyuna Range club will come to the local links in a return match with the Brainerd players. Play will start at 2 o'clock. The Deerwood players are looking for a victory to overcome their defeat last Sunday at the hands of the Brainerd players by one point in the 18-hole match play.

YACHT MOHAWK CROSSES FINISH, 2ND TO ARRIVE

ONE OF A FLEET OF SMALLER YACHTS RACING ACROSS

5 YACHTS STILL TO FINISH, ONE SMALLER, FOUR IN OPEN CLASS

Santander, Spain, July 25.—The yacht Mohawk crossed the finish line at Cape Mayor at 11:55 A. M. today, second of the smaller yachts to arrive after a race across the Atlantic from New York.

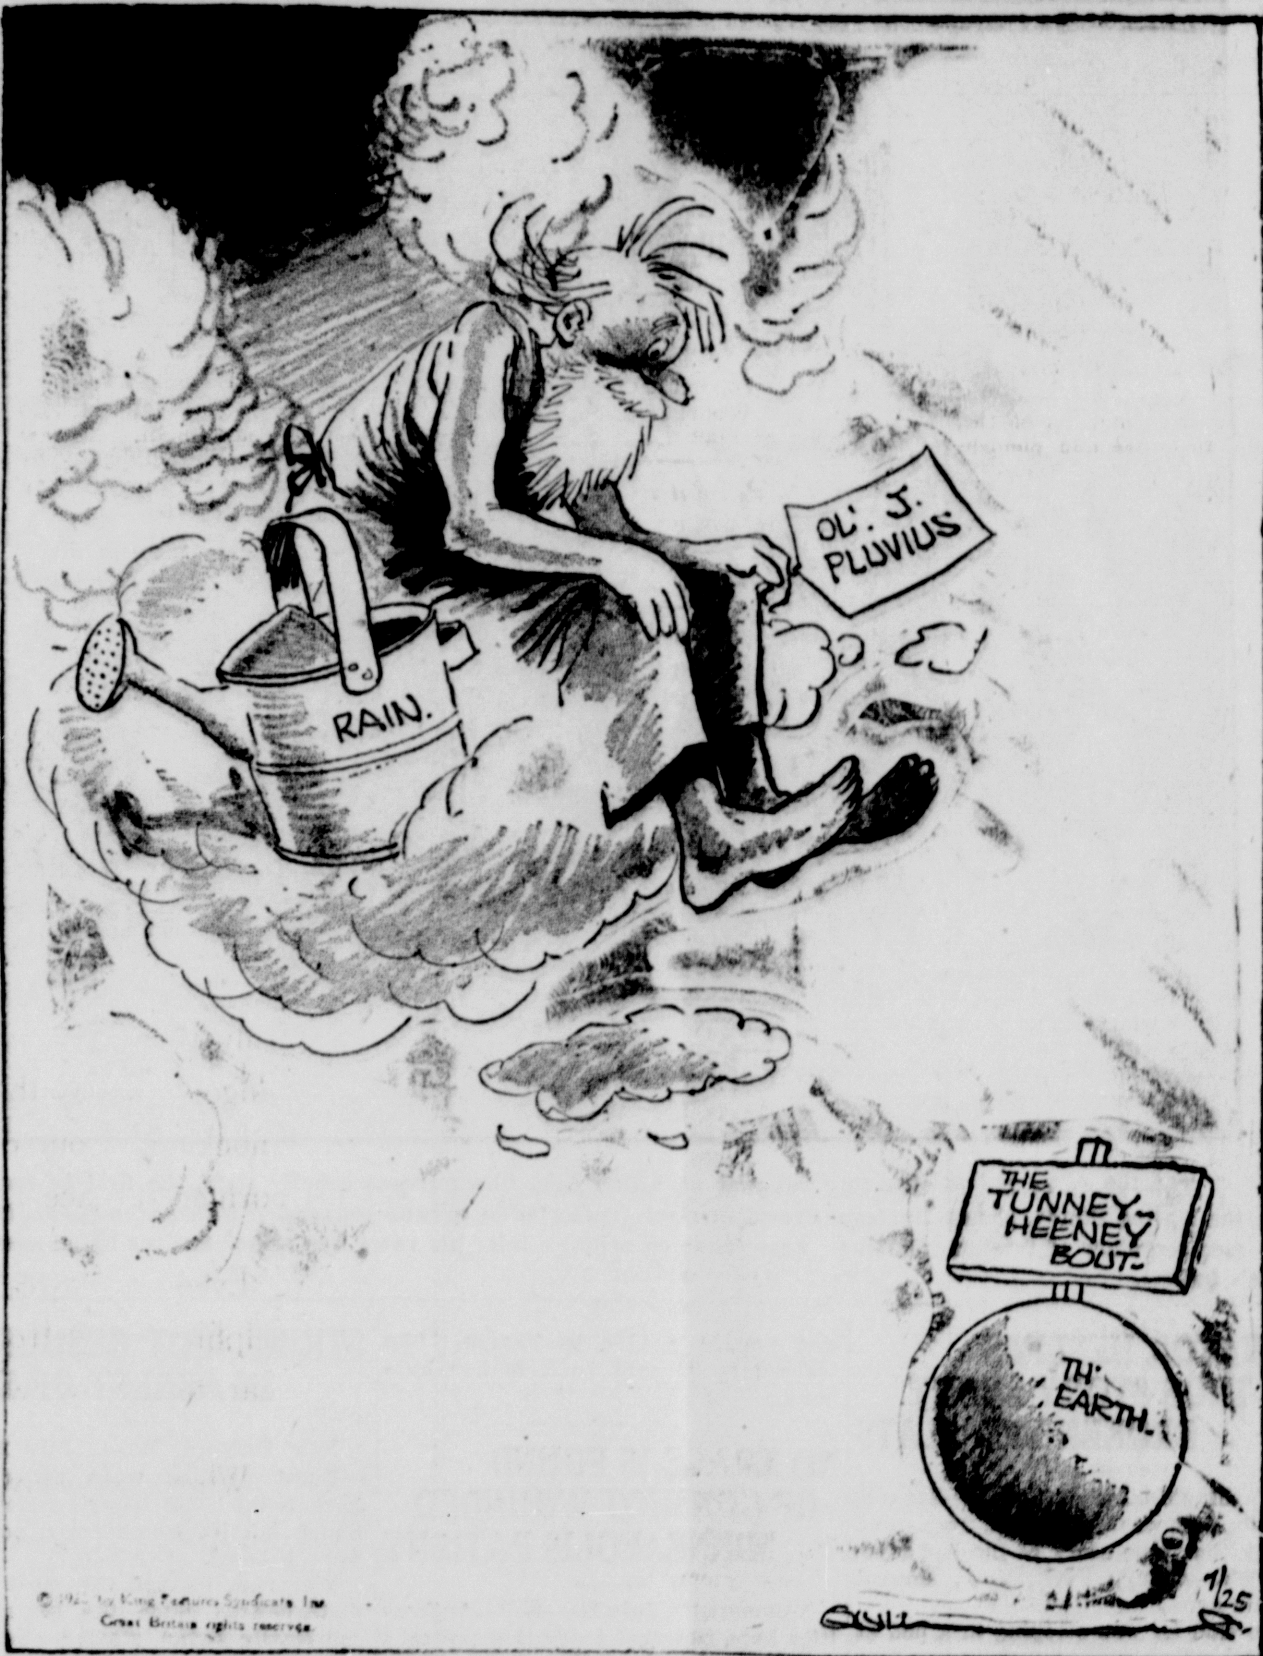

Five yachts still were to finish—pinta, in the class for smaller yachts, and Atlantic, Guinevere, Zodiac and Wright & Son, Louis Hostager, Citi-Azara in the open class.

Jim Measures with Modern Champ

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, former heavyweight champion, made it a point to compare his stature with Gene Tunney's at Speculator, N. Y., just as soon as he arrived at the champ's training quarters. Corbett still retains the marvelous physique of his younger days and stacks up very well with Gene.

The Master of Ceremonies

By QUIN HALL.

TOMORROW night, WEATHER PERMITTING, Champion Gene Tunney will meet Challenger Tom Heeneey at the Yankee Stadium in New York City for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Which puts the matter squarely up to the Honorable J. Pluvius, the guy who rides around on a cloud with a sprinkling can by his side and regulates the rainfall allotted to us mortals.

In other words it's now up to the elements. Both principals have tapered off their training. Both principals and their retinue of hired hands have told the public that they are in the best possible shape. Mr. Rickard has done a first-class job of ballyhooing the event and has thereby disposed of a goodly number of tickets with a supply of the cheaper tickets, sufficient to take care of the last minute purchasers, still in the racks. In fact, the whole works has been brought up to the usual point reached the day before these heavyweight tilts for the title.

Up until the Battle of the Century—the Philadelphia model and the one in which the title passed from Dempsey to Tunney—Rickard had the rep of always being favored by the weather. That bout ended in a downpour but the gate was accounted for before the rain started so it wasn't a bad break for the well-known Tex.

However, this year the weather man has been playing havoc with the well laid plans of the boxing promoters. The first big bout to be postponed on account of inclement weather was the championship tilt between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin. The weather man also took a sock at the match for the light heavyweight crown between Tommy Loughran and Pete Latzo, and set back the shindig staged by Johnny Risko and the current—or then current—black menace, George Godfrey. Ol' J. Pluv also turned on the faucet during the Mickey Walker-Ace Hudkins titular fray in Chicago, but once again the customers were all nicely settled before the deluge—and it must have been just that—as the reports from the White Sox ball park had the two battlers wading around in water ankle deep and that's a lot of rain in any regulation ring.

Another bout was set back by the rain early this month when Tod Moran was billed to defend his trick title against Cannonball Eddie Martin in Brooklyn.

IF HEENEY WINS, NEXT BIG FIGHT WILL BE HELD IN LONDON

DISCOVERER OF NEW ZEALANDER VOICES OPINION

JACK DEMPSEY WOULD GET THE CALL TO FIGHT, SAYS BERNARD MORTIMER

TRAINER SAYS IT HAS BEEN A PLEASURE TO WORK WITH HEENEY

By STAN ERSKINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Fairhaven, N. J., July 25.—If Tom Heeneey wins the heavyweight championship of the world in New York Thursday night, it is likely that the next title bout will be held in London. That is the opinion voiced by Bernard Mortimer, discoverer of Heeneey.

When asked who would be the greatest drawing card against Tom Heeneey, he answered, "Jack Dempsey would get the call. Imagine a fight between Heeneey and Dempsey in London."

Heeneey is a man without temperament. No one knows him better than his trainer, Jimmie Hennessey, with whom he will be in seclusion today and the majority of the time until the fight.

"It has been a pleasure to work with Tom," says the trainer.

The last few days have been much easier for Heeneey than his friends could expect. He is in the best of mental condition. In fact, it seems at times Heeneey thinks little of the big party Tex Rickard will stage at the Yankee Stadium.

Charlie Harvey, his American manager, thought Heeneey was a bit lonesome for his homeland. Each day he received a number of telegrams and letters from friends in New Zealand.

By HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 25.—Tex Rickard, promoter of battles of the century, was busy today studying two sets of statistics. One of them is a box office statement; the other is the United States government weather report.

When he said "forecast for Thursday, July 26, generally fair and not much change in temperature" he smiled. When he read "advance seat sale for Tunney-Heeneey fight—$625,000," he groaned.

Clear skies alone can keep Rickard from losing money on a prize fight for the first time in his career as a promoter. If Thursday dawns fair and stays that way, the eleventh-hour ticket sale may bring the total to $800,000, thereby enabling him to break even.

It was announced today that 600 policemen would be scattered through Yankee Stadium tomorrow night to see that fighting is confined strictly to the ring. In addition there will be 600 ushers and 250 gamemen.

The betting began to lengthen this morning, and it was reported in Wall street that 3 to 1 odds, with Tunney on the heavy end, were easy to obtain.

Predictions were made that before nightfall the champion would be a 4 to 1 favorite.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Speculator, N. Y., July 25.—The shadow of Jack Dempsey has fallen across tomorrow night's heavyweight championship bout between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeneey.

When the roar of the crowd swells into that tumultuous tidal wave of sound which the old Manassa Mauler so often evoked, Jack Dempsey will not be in one corner of the ring for the first time since that broiling afternoon at Toledo, nine years ago when he battered the giant Jess Willard to the canvas.

But the figure of Jack Dempsey is indelibly inscribed on the sub-conscious mind of Gene Tunney, surrounded by hero-worshippers, who is at heart a hero-worshiper himself, and his hero is Jack Dempsey.

Tunney, whose forte is boxing, skill and science, wants to be a killer, and he will crawl into the ring at the Yankee Stadium bent on beating down Tom Heeneey, not by artistry, but the lethal fists that made Jack Dempsey the greatest drawing card in the history of pugilism.

The champion completed his training here in a blaze of vicious punching. Tunney beat a murderous tattoo on the bodies of Harold Mays and Billy Vidabek. There were moments in the champion's final workout when his style revived memories of Dempsey.

Superbly conditioned after two months of intensive training, Tunney relaxed today in preparation for his bid for recognition as the rightful successor to Jack Dempsey.

The champion spent a quiet night in his isolated hut in the heart of pine clad mountain tops four miles across Lake Pleasant, with Orin Nobles, vagabond painter from Seattle, as his only companion.

One more night here and Tunney will strap on a leather helmet and parachute and step into the cabin of a two-motored Sikorsky amphibian plane and fly to New York City. He will be the first heavyweight champion in history to fly to the scene of the battle.

LARGE ENTRY FROM LAKE REGION TO COMPETE SUNDAY

LOCAL PLAYERS TO PAIR WITH TOURISTS; PLAY TO GET UNDERWAY AT 2 P. M.

RETURN MATCH WITH CUYUNA RANGE CLUB TO BE PLAYED HERE SATURDAY

The fourth annual tourist tournament of the Brainerd Country club starting at 2 P. M. Sunday bids fair to outdo all previous attempts. In the past between 50 and 75 golfing tourists have participated. They are from nearly every state in the union. Many tourists have made it a point to return for this event each year. It has been the aim of the tournament committee to attract as many as possible to the course and thus keep them near Brainerd.

This year's tournament is somewhat of a departure from previous ones. In the past merchandise has been donated by the business men and offered as prizes for the best scores. This year the committee has purchased three silver loving cups and had them suitably engraved. These will be awarded to those tourists who turn in the three lowest scores. In addition many golf balls will be given away to those next in line.

Everything is free on this day to the summer visitors. There is no entrance or green fee charged and all refreshments are free in the club house. Each tourist is paired with a local player and eighteen holes are played. Medal score is kept and there will be no match play. A large entry is expected and the tournament committee requests that every local golfer turn out on this day. The event has been well advertised throughout the lake region.

On Saturday afternoon the Cuyuna Range club will come to the local links in a return match with the Brainerd players. Play will start at 2 o'clock. The Deerwood players are looking for a victory to overcome their defeat last Sunday at the hands of the Brainerd players by one point in the 18-hole match play.

YACHT MOHAWK CROSSES FINISH, 2ND TO ARRIVE

ONE OF A FLEET OF SMALLER YACHTS RACING ACROSS ATLANTIC

5 YACHTS STILL TO FINISH, ONE SMALLER, FOUR IN OPEN CLASS

By JOHN DE GANDT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Santander, Spain, July 25.—The yacht Mohawk crossed the finish line at Cape Mayor at 11:55 A. M. today, second of the smaller yachts to arrive after a race across the Atlantic from New York.

Five yachts still were to finish—Pinta, in the class for smaller yachts, and Atlantic, Guinevere, Zodiac and Azara in the open class.

"Gentleman Jim" Corbett, former heavyweight champion, made it a point to compare his stature with Gene Tunney's at Speculator, N. Y., just as soon as he arrived at the champ's training quarters. Corbett still retains the marvelous physique of his younger days and stacks up very well with Gene.

The Master of Ceremonies

By QUIN HALL.
TOMORROW night, WEATHER PERMITTING, Champion Gene Tunney will meet Challenger Tom Heeneey at the Yankee Stadium in New York City for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Which puts the matter squarely up to the Honorable J. Pluvius, the guy who rides around on a cloud with a sprinkling can by his side and regulates the rainfall allotted to us mortals.

In other words it's now up to the elements.

Both principals have tapered off their training. Both principals and their retinue of hired hands have told the public that they are in the best possible shape. Mr. Rickard has done a first-class job of rallying the event and has thereby disposed of a goodly number of tickets with a supply of the cheaper tickets, sufficient to take care of the last minute purchasers, still in the racks. In fact, the whole works has been brought up to the usual point reached the day before these heavyweight tilts for the title.

Little remains now but to sit back and wait the weather reports.

Up until the Battle of the Century—the Philadelphia model and the one in which the title passed from Dempsey to Tunney—Rickard had the rep of always being favored by the weather. That bout ended in a downpour but the race was accounted for before the rain started so it wasn't a bad break for the well-known Tex.

However, this year the weather man has been playing havoc with the well laid plans of the boxing promoters. The first big bout to be postponed on account of inclement weather was the championship tilt between Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin. The weather man also took a sock at the match for the light heavyweight crown between Tommy Loughran and Pete Latzo, and set back the shindig staged by Johnny Risko and the current—or then current—black menace, George Godfrey. Ol' J. Pluvius also turned on the faucet during the Mickey Walker-Ace Hudkins titular fray in Chicago, but once again the customers were all nicely settled before the deluge—and it must have been just that—as the reports from the White Sox ball park had the two battlers wading around in water ankle deep and that's a lot of rain in any regular ring.

Another bout was set back by the rain early this month when Tod Moran was billed to defend his trick title against Cannonball Eddie Martin in Brooklyn.

These are just a few of the high spots which were gummed up by the inclement weather so far during the present so-called outdoor season and there have been innumerable less important bouts which have been temporarily rained out or cold-weathered ahead to a future date.

So, naturally, the fans are looking forward to tomorrow night and wondering how the weather man is going to treat the fisticuffs arranged for the Yankee Stadium.

Rickard wisely selected a time for staging the important tilt when the New York Yankees will be out of town for quite a spell so he doesn't have to worry over a change of site, but postponements never help the box-office and if the weather man is unkind a lot of out-of-town visitors may miss the match entirely.

Rickard is insured against the elements but he'd much prefer to lose the premium and have ideal weather and in this he has the solid backing of all the ticket-holders.

LOCAL BALL CLUB TO PLAY BEFORE 'CAL' TOMORROW

BRAINERD'S OPPONENTS TO BE EITHER GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY OR RICE LAKE

The Brainerd ball team was to leave this evening for Superior, Wis., where the players will enter the Head of the Lakes baseball tournament tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Significant is the fact that President Coolidge and party will be present and the chief executive himself will throw the first ball.

Brainerd's opponents in the opening conflict have not been definitely decided as yet. The choice will be between the Great Northern Railway Co. team of Superior, Wis., or Rice Lake. Both teams are rated as fast ball clubs.

The following players will make the trip by train: Hurr, Hanson, Nolan, Peterson, Uddenberg, Loom, Collins, Nutting, Richmond, Jarbo, Caron, Olson, Goulette and Hudson.

Manager Robert Block will travel to Superior by motor.

SENATOR HEFLIN'S TRUE STORY ABOUT BROKEN BED SLATS

Washington, July 25.—(U.P.)—Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, recounted today the "true story of the bed mystery" at Asbury Park, N. J., several nights ago.

He said he was sleeping in a bed at a hotel. Two men rapped on his door and told him they had been sent to fix the bed. They found nothing wrong with it, however. They seemed embarrassed as Heflin watched them closely until they left.

TWO INDICTMENTS RETURNED AGAINST ALLEGED KIDNAPER

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—(U.P.)—Two indictments were returned by a grand jury here yesterday against Fred Fair, alleged kidnaper of his former sweetheart, Mrs. Kitty Heath.

Fair is believed to be in Florida. Mrs. Heath testified before the grand jury that Fair forced her at the muzzle of a gun to enter his car July 5 and drive from Atlanta to Lakeland, Fla. She was held prisoner there, she says, for 10 days.

and caught a ride to Tampa. She wanted to be sent back to her husband.

NO TRACE IS FOUND OF GUNSHOT WOUNDED MINNEAPOLIS PATIENT

Minneapolis, July 25.—(U.P.)—Authorities here reported today that no trace had been found of Roy Lage, Pipestone, Minn., who disappeared from a city hospital where he was receiving treatment for gunshot wounds.

Lage left $820 in cash and valuables in the hospital when he disappeared Sunday. The valuables and cash were turned over to a woman who called at the hospital Monday.

Lage entered the hospital Friday and declined to discuss the way in which he received his injuries. Pipestone police have no record of any shooting there.

BODY OF ESCAPED INSANE INMATE IS RETURNED TO HOME

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 25.—(U.P.)—The body of Peter Smith, 38, escaped inmate of the insane asylum at Fergus Falls, Minn., was returned today to his home at Cloquet, Minn., by relatives. Smith was found dead beside the Omaha railroad tracks at Lake Hallie, six miles south of here, yesterday. It was assumed he had fallen under the wheels of a car he was riding.

STRIKE RIOT RESULTS IN ARREST OF EIGHT

New Bedford, Mass., July 25.—(U.P.)—Eight persons were under arrest here today after a strike riot at the Sharp mill in which seven policemen were injured.

The riot, one of the most serious disturbances since the beginning of the textile strike, started when police attempted to arrest Augusto C. G. Pinot, member of the so-called radical group.

AMERICAN MARINES HOPE TO GAIN CONTACT WITH SANDINO FORCE

Managua, Nicaragua, July 25.—(U.P.)—American marines, with marine airplanes in support, hoped to gain contact today with the revolutionary force under General Agustina Sandino, who is believed to be at or near the Honduran border.

Airplanes have been turned back by wind and rain from two attempts definitely to locate Sandino's men.

Soft Gem

Opals are not durable stones. If worn carefully in an ordinary ring, they should last indefinitely. Often they wear down and must be reset and cleaned. If given hard knocks or dropped, they are not much stronger than glass. They are classed as the softest of all gems, with possibly the exception of the oriental pearl.

Black and White, Paris' Favorites

How far we have progressed along the road to real femininity, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, is strikingly evidenced in the collection of Lucien Lelong. One need only compare the tiered and flounced skirts of formal models with the simple, boyish evening gowns of a few seasons back to understand what a tremendous change has taken place in the temper of the mode. This change has passed its oral stage. It is now an actual established fact and no one can run counter to it and still be sartorially smart.

So far as color is concerned, Lelong is definitely committed to black and white. This preference is principally applicable to evening costumes, although it occasionally enters the daytime field. The tendency is particularly interesting in view of the exotic colors which Paris has been so partial to since the late openings. It is probably a result of more fanciful dress themes which always limit vivid colors.

Prominent among the effective themes of this Lelong collection are the draped fichu collar emphasized in the front of the frock; the handkerchief point yokes in skirts; the use of shirring not only to give fullness either to the front or the back of a frock but also to lend decorativeness to the otherwise unadorned frock; the reversed side of his full-length flowing jabot—that is, descending from the neckline in front down the length of the frock; hitherto it has been placed at the back in evening gowns. Over-skirts are used bountifully with side dip flares in the underskirt at one side in front, the other in the back. There are many straight, fairly broad loose panels, some from the shoulders, others from the hips—sometimes squared at the ends, sometimes rounded.

Frocks Match Coats.

In daytime ensembles frocks frequently match the coats—in velvet surfaced fabrics with the frock in crepe-lla, for instance. Coats are almost all collared and cuffed in fur, with the latter made to extend almost to the elbow, or at least apparently to this depth. Crepe de chine, all-over lace, printed and plain velvets, printed chiffons, both soft and stiff satins and georgette crepe are used for afternoon models—in black, gray, midnight blue, nigger brown, maize and a very pink bois de rose tone. Morning glory blue, beige and pale green enter the sports mode and black comes into the tailored costumes. Suit skirts, by the way, are slashed full length at the center front or side front.

leading item of dress. The new note in this field is the return of the flare, which had been quite positively banned for spring and summer. It is rather a modified species of flare, that these advanced models are affecting and its place may be in front, at the sides, or, on rarer occasions, in back. The appearance of slenderness, however, is still maintained, and it appears that the svelte line silhouette will always be the fetish of the fashionables. Velours, zibeline, English woolsens, suede materials and rough woolsens emphasizing small patterns are the outstanding fabrics. There is a well founded suspicion that the smart costumes of late summer and early autumn will, to a great extent, limit large garish prints and confine themselves to daintier effects.

is an advanced frock style which very pointedly emphasizes flounced treatments. There is a definite return to the hemline flare and there is a continuance of the uneven hemline which has been largely confined to robes du soir during the current season. Bows and scarfs serve the dual purpose of diversifying and feminizing the neckline, while velvet vies with satin as the principal dress fabric.

On one silhouette point in both afternoon coats and dresses there is general agreement—the conforming neckline still persists. This is unchanged from its midseason versions and can safely be counted upon as one of the assured advanced fashion themes.

Elaborate Fabrics for Evening. For evening fashions the trend has never before been so clearly toward extremely rich and elaborate fabrics. Indeed, if anywhere in the mode there is a premise upon which to base predictions of a return to Victorianism in dress it is in the mode du soir. Not since the halcyon days of the fin de siecle have fabrics been more rich, and if the modern gowns lack something of the heavy swishing luxury which belonged to their predecessors they are making up for that deficiency in a diversity of themes which is really unparalleled in fashion's history. It has usually been the case in evening wraps that when rich fabrics were employed the trimmings were comparatively simple. The current trend, however, takes no notice of precedent—it combines the richest of velvets and metallic brocades with the most luxuriant trimmings, and caps the climax with perhaps the addition of silver or blue fox at the collar, occasionally both.

Fur and Skirts.

There are two fashion points which are being rather closely observed in smart circles just now. Many of the most effective coats have either partially or entirely disposed of fur trimming and there has been some wonderment as to whether pelts will again be conspicuous by their paucity next autumn. The second point concerns the much mooted question of skirt length. Shall skirts be shorter, longer or the same next autumn? Indications point definitely to a return of fur trimmings applied quite as lavishly as in the past. Silver and blue fox right now are the leading candidates among the furs. As to skirt length, Paris fashion prophets do not hesitate to predict a further lengthening of the hemline. There will be nothing epoch making about the added length, which will probably not be more than one inch, but its significance is that it proves conclusively that the tide has turned in the turbulent history of the ever shortening hemline.

One must, very subtly to be sure, affect the fall themes, which are still in the embryo. And to discover those modes one must look to Paris—not anywhere in Paris, but in those places where the next season's mode is being definitely tried out. Mannequins at Longchamp and Auteuil, vraie fashionables at Deauville and St. Cloud—these are the first to test the public reactions to projected fashion motifs. And if you follow them closely you may attain some of that chic which otherwise would require the psychic talents of a clairvoyant.

Coral Is Imitated by Paris Exclusive Shops

Even coral is being imitated in Paris now, some of the latest ornaments shown at exclusive shops being woven or twisted chains of tiny imitation coral beads. The chains terminate in large knots of beads or a many forked branch of genuine coral.

Another recently introduced ornament is the choker collar of flattened beads separated by gold disks. These collars usually are in deep coral red or jade green.

The turtle has become a pet motif for costume jewelry and small art objects. Turtle belt buckles, hat pins and ash trays are shown in the luxury shops.

BRAINERD'S OPPONENTS TO BE EITHER GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY OR RICE LAKE

The Brainerd ball team was to leave this evening for Superior, Wis., where the players will enter the Head of the Lakes baseball tournament tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Significant is the fact that President Coolidge and party will be present and the chief executive himself will throw the first ball.

Brainerd's opponents in the opening conflict have not been definitely decided as yet. The choice will be between the Great Northern Railway Co. team of Superior, Wis., or Rice Lake. Both teams are rated as fast ball clubs.

The following players will make the trip by train: Hurr, Hanson, Nolan, Peterson, Uddenberg, Loom, Collins, Nutting, Richmond, Jarbo, Caron, Olson, Goulette and Hudson.

Manager Robert Block will travel to Superior by motor.

ROY O. WEST TO TAKE OATH OF OFFICE TODAY

Washington, July 25.—(U.P.)—Roy O. West was to take the oath of office as secretary of interior at 3:30 p. m. today.

He called at republican headquarters and received congratulations on his appointment from Dr. Hubert Work, his predecessor. Later he visited Secretary of State Kellogg.

Bodies of Two Coast Guardsmen Recovered

Cape May, N. J., July 25.—(U.P.)—The bodies of John Haines, of Pleasantville, N. J., and Dewitt Hale, of Washington, Ga., members of the crew of the coast guard patrol boat 113, sunk in a collision off Cape Henlopen recently, were recovered today by divers.

The coast guard boat was rammed by another vessel during a heavy fog.

CAMERA FILMS MADE FROM PAPER

Berlin, July 25.—(U.P.)—The newspaper Zeitung am Mittag reported today that an unnamed Berlin engineer had invented a process for manufacturing camera films from paper. It is claimed that the film possesses the same sensitivity to light as a celluloid film, and that its costs much less and is fireproof.

WHEAT SENT SHARPLY LOWER ON CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

Chicago, July 25.—(U.P.)—Selling pressure from the northwest and southwest sent wheat sharply lower on the board of trade today. Corn showed strength and made moderate advances. Oats were irregular. Wheat closed 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 cents off; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 cents higher and oats ranged from 3/4 cents off to 3/4 cents up. Provisions were slightly higher.

SOLVING THE PROBLEM

They were both in evening dress, when they collided with each other. "Good heavens—you!" gasped one. "Gladys is giving a party," replied the other, shifting a large bottle of furniture polish from one hand to the other.

"Oh! What's the furniture polish for, then?" "Well, you see," returned his friend, "she insisted on my bringing something for use on the table."

SENATOR HEFLIN'S TRUE STORY ABOUT BROKEN BED SLATS

Washington, July 25.—(U.P.)—Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, recounted today the "true story of the bed mystery" at Asbury Park, N. J., several nights ago.

He said he was sleeping in a bed at a hotel. Two men rapped on his door and told him they had been sent to fix the bed. They found nothing wrong with it, however. They seemed embarrassed as Heflin watched them closely until they left.

TWO INDICTMENTS RETURNED AGAINST ALLEGED KIDNAPER

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—(U.P.)—Two indictments were returned by a grand jury here yesterday against Fred Fair, alleged kidnaper of his former sweetheart, Mrs. Kitty Heath.

Fair is believed to be in Florida. Mrs. Heath testified before the grand jury that Fair forced her at the muzzle of a gun to enter his car July 5 and drive from Atlanta to Lakeland, Fla. She was held prisoner there, she says, for 10 days.

Last week Mrs. Heath appeared at a Tampa police station and announced she had escaped from her abductor.

NO TRACE IS FOUND OF GUNSHOT WOUNDED MINNEAPOLIS PATIENT

Minneapolis, July 25.—(U.P.)—Authorities here reported today that no trace had been found of Roy Lage, Pipestone, Minn., who disappeared from a city hospital where he was receiving treatment for gunshot wounds.

Lage left $820 in cash and valuables in the hospital when he disappeared Sunday. The valuables and cash were turned over to a woman who called at the hospital Monday.

Lage entered the hospital Friday and declined to discuss the way in which he received his injuries. Pipestone police have no record of any shooting there.

BODY OF ESCAPED INSANE INMATE IS RETURNED TO HOME

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 25.—(U.P.)—The body of Peter Smith, 38, escaped inmate of the insane asylum at Fergus Falls, Minn., was returned today to his home at Cloquet, Minn., by relatives. Smith was found dead beside the Omaha railroad tracks at Lake Hallie, six miles south of here, yesterday. It was assumed he had fallen under the wheels of a car he was riding.

STRIKE RIOT RESULTS IN ARREST OF EIGHT

New Bedford, Mass., July 25.—(U.P.)—Eight persons were under arrest here today after a strike riot at the Sharp mill in which seven policemen were injured.

The riot, one of the most serious disturbances since the beginning of the textile strike, started when police attempted to arrest Augusto C. G. Pinot, member of the so-called radical group.

AMERICAN MARINES HOPE TO GAIN CONTACT WITH SANDINO FORCE

Managua, Nicaragua, July 25.—(U.P.)—American marines, with marine airplanes in support, hoped to gain contact today with the revolutionary force under General Agustina Sandino, who is believed to be at or near the Honduran border.

Airplanes have been turned back by wind and rain from two attempts definitely to locate Sandino's men.

Soft Gem

Opals are not durable stones. If worn carefully in an ordinary ring, they should last indefinitely. Often they wear down and must be reset and cleaned. If given hard knocks or dropped, they are not much stronger than glass. They are classed as the softest of all gems, with possibly the exception of the oriental pearl.

Black and White, Paris' Favorites

How far we have progressed along the road to real femininity, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune, is strikingly evidenced in the collection of Lucien Lelong. One need only compare the tiered and flounced skirts of formal models with the simple, boyish evening gowns of a few seasons back to understand what a tremendous change has taken place in the temper of the mode. This change has passed its oral stage. It is now an actual established fact and no one can run counter to it and still be sartorially smart.

So far as color is concerned, Lelong is definitely committed to black and white. This preference is principally applicable to evening costumes, although it occasionally enters the daytime field. The tendency is particularly interesting in view of the exotic colors which Paris has been so partial to since the late openings. It is probably a result of more fanciful dress themes which always limit vivid colors.

Prominent among the effective themes of this Lelong collection are the draped fichu collar emphasized in the front of the frock; the handkerchief point yokes in skirts; the use of shirring not only to give fullness either to the front or the back of a frock but also to lend decorativeness to the otherwise unadorned frock; the reversed side of his full-length flowing jabot—that is, descending from the neckline in front down the length of the frock; hitherto it has been placed at the back in evening gowns. Over-skirts are used bountifully with side dip flares in the underskirt at one side in front, the other in the back. There are many straight, fairly broad loose panels, some from the shoulders, others from the hips—sometimes squared at the ends, sometimes rounded.

Frocks Match Coats.

In daytime ensembles frocks frequently match the coats—in velvet surfaced fabrics with the frock in crepe-ella, for instance. Coats are almost all collared and cuffed in fur, with the latter made to extend almost to the elbow, or at least apparently to this depth. Crepe de chine, all-over lace, printed and plain velvets, printed chiffons, both soft and stiff satins and georgette crepe are used for afternoon models—in black, gray, midnight blue, nigger brown, maize and a very pink bois de rose tone. Morning glory blue, beige and pale green enter the sports mode and black comes into the tailored costumes. Suit skirts, by the way, are slashed full length at the center front or side front.

Black and white and pastel tints are used for evening, in georgette, tulle, solid beading, stiff satin for wraps, and satin and velvet for coats.

Right now principal anticipatory interest in Paris centers around the coat, which, incidentally, is autumn's

leading item of dress. The new note in this field is the return of the flare, which had been quite positively banned for spring and summer. URGE PERIODIC EXAMINATION

Upper Mississippi Medical Society
Hears Fine Lecture by
Dr. T. R. Ponton

Careful Examinations Periodically Necessary for Maintenance
of Health

Results produced in the prevention of disease have been due to the work of the greatest minds of the medical profession who have given their time and in some cases their lives to the study of disease. Dr. T. R. Ponton, B. A., M. D., University of Manitoba and officer of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, said as he lectured on "The Periodic Examination" to members of the Upper Mississippi Medical society at the summer meeting at International Falls, Minn., July 21.

Drs. G. I. Badeaux and John Thabes, Jr., of Brainerd have returned from attending the meeting and report a most educational program. Drs. B. L. Smith and S. S. Shannon, of Crosby, and Drs. E. W. Kelly and J. J. Ratcliffe, of Aitkin were also in attendance.

"Work in the prevention of disease has been very discouraging at times and the advances, rapid as they have been, seem all too slow," said Dr. Ponton. "This is because of the elusive character of disease and the complexities of the body. Workers have at times become discouraged and it is the example of such men as William Crawford Gorgas that encourages us to keep on. He conquered Yellow Fever in Havana, enabled the American Commission to build the Panama Canal in two years less than was estimated, and at an immense saving as surgeon general of the U. S. Army selected a fit army for service in the war and kept them so fit that there was less disease in the army during the war than in the civil population. Great as was his work, his real legacy to civilization is the incentive he gives us to keep on in the struggle to prevent disease. The Gorgas Memorial is founded to perpetuate in memory by carrying on and extending the work that he was doing.

"Work in the past has been almost entirely in the field of communicable disease because the policing power of government enables the health authorities to interfere when a person is suffering from a communicable disease since he is a menace to others. But in the field of noncommunicable disease, because the sufferer is a menace only to himself no authority has power to interfere. The initiative must come from the laity, and this initiative is best taken by means of the periodic examination.

"The periodic examination is not a new idea. It was first proposed by Dobell of London in 1861. It has been advocated by various authorities ever since. That it is necessary is shown by U. S. P. H. statistics. These show that only 62 per cent of the nation have no disability or have disabilities that can be disregarded. The other 38 per cent have disabilities that require medical care. This agrees closely with the experience in examining the draft when one third were rejected as physically unfit.

"That it is of economic value is shown by the fact that the great life insurance companies have been urging it among their policy holders since 1911 and have found that it paid. Great industries have found the same thing.

"In order that there may be the greatest amount of benefit there must be the right attitude on the part of the doctor and his client. The client must come with the intention of having a thorough examination and of carrying out the advice of the doctor. The doctor must show a personal interest in the patient and must charge a fee that will not be prohibitive but that will compensate him since he has to do a very thorough examination.

"The examination should be a careful enquiry into the family and personal history of the client, a thorough physical examination of the whole body, a complete chemical and microscopic examination of the urine and a complete blood examination. These examinations will reveal to a good clinician any of the ordinary diseases and will show leads directing him to the search for any of the more obscure diseases if such exist. If all the laboratory examinations and instruments of precision are used there will be much unnecessary work done for which the public will have to pay and it follows that we will be accused of exploiting them if all this examination is done in all cases. In this I disagree with some authorities who believe that there should be a very exhaustive study of every case regardless of the expense involved.

"We are establishing local units of the Gorgas Memorial Institute in Minnesota, and expect to form a corps in every important community in the United States. These units will consist of doctors, dentists, representatives of various organizations, and the general public. They will concern themselves with com-

"The best answer that we know of today in relation to the cancer menace is that of very early examination and treatment. Cancer is not so dangerous if cared for in its early stages. If adults can have a thorough examination every twelve months, it will prove valuable life extension work.

"General Gorgas made himself immortal by his sanitary work in Panama, by the elimination of the mosquito, and by conquering yellow fever. However, his policies in the World War as head of the medical corps of the U. S. Army, where he arranged for very strict examinations for all prospective soldiers, has given us valuable data as to the need and utility of such tests. The Gorgas idea of an annual health audit is taking hold, and it will add much to our general life average."

Other speakers at the meeting were: A. F. Saalaas, M. D., Wadena; Roscoe C. Webb, M. D., Minneapolis; M. C. Gillespie, M. D., Duluth; R. O. Jones, of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, and Dr. M. E. Withron, International Falls.

Tribute to Dr. P. M. Hall

In the death of Dr. P. M. Hall, one of the oldest and best beloved members of this association, the Upper Mississippi Medical Society, in common with the State of Minnesota, suffers a great loss. His outstanding service as health commissioner of Minneapolis for many years, and his work with the United States Public Health Service during the World War, stamp him an organizer and executive of no ordinary ability. As superintendent of the Minnesota State Sanatorium at Walker, these talents were demonstrated in such fashion as to make him known throughout and beyond the United States.

Possessed of a personality most charming, he so endeared himself to those of the profession who had the joy of his acquaintance, that every member of this society experiences a great sadness from the passing of this great physician, this noble man, this friend.

"Who knows? Who needs to understand

If there be shadows there, or more to live as though a pleasant land Lay just beyond an open door?"

These resolutions, adopted by the Upper Mississippi Medical Society at International Falls, July 21, 1928, and engrossed upon the records of this society, are tendered our loved hostess of last year, Mrs. P. M. Hall, and the other members of the bereaved family.

Today

A Hupmobile truck from the Greenwood Dairy, driven by Iver J. Storstad, South Sixth street resident, and a Ford roadster driven by Miss Edith Rucktaeschel of Seaport, Minn., collided at the corner of South Sixth and Maple streets at 10 A. M. today. Storstad was driving South on Sixth street and had signaled to turn to the left. Miss Rucktaeschel driving her father's car thought she had time to pass before Storstad made the turn and her rear right wheel locked with the front left wheel of the dairy truck. As Miss Rucktaeschel was driving through the city and in a hurry to be on her way she accepted the blame for the accident, paid Storstad sufficiently to repair his car and was on her way.

URGE PERIODIC EXAMINATION

Hears Fine Lecture by
Dr. T. R. Ponton

Necessary for Maintenance
of Health

Results produced in the prevention of disease have been due to the work of the greatest minds of the medical profession who have given their time and in some cases their lives to the study of disease. Dr. T. R. Ponton, B. A., M. D., University of Manitoba and officer of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, said as he lectured on "The Periodic Examination" to members of the Upper Mississippi Medical society at the summer meeting at International Falls, Minn., July 21.

Drs. G. I. Badeaux and John Thabes, Jr., of Brainerd have returned from attending the meeting and report a most educational program. Drs. B. L. Smith and S. S. Shannon, of Crosby, and Drs. E. W. Kelly and J. J. Ratcliffe, of Aitkin were also in attendance.

"Work in the prevention of disease has been very discouraging at times and the advances, rapid as they have been, seem all too slow," said Dr. Ponton. "This is because of the elusive character of disease and the complexities of the body. Workers have at times become discouraged and it is the example of such men as William Crawford Gorgas that encourages us to keep on. He conquered Yellow Fever in Havana, enabled the American Commission to build the Panama Canal in two years less than was estimated and at an immense saving as surgeon general of the U. S. Army selected a fit army for service in the war and kept them so fit that there was less disease in the army during the war than in the civil population. Great as was his work, his real legacy to civilization is the incentive he gives us to keep on in the struggle to prevent disease. The Gorgas Memorial is founded to perpetuate in memory by carrying on and extending the work that he was doing."

"Work in the past has been almost entirely in the field of communicable disease because the policing power of government enables the health authorities to interfere when a person is suffering from a communicable disease since he is a menace to others. But in the field of noncommunicable disease, because the sufferer is a menace only to himself no authority has power to interfere. The initiative must come from the laity, and this initiative is best taken by means of the periodic examination."

"The periodic examination is not a new idea. It was first proposed by Dobell of London in 1861. It has been advocated by various authorities ever since. That it is necessary is shown by U. S. P. H. statistics. These show that only 62 per cent of the nation have no disability or have disabilities that can be disregarded. The other 38 per cent have disabilities that require medical care. This agrees closely with the experience in examining the draft when one third were rejected as physically unfit."

"That it is of economic value is shown by the fact that the great life insurance companies have been urging it among their policy holders since 1911 and have found that it paid. Great industries have found the same thing."

"In order that there may be the greatest amount of benefit there must be the right attitude on the part of the doctor and his client. The client must come with the intention of having a thorough examination and of carrying out the advice of the doctor. The doctor must show a personal interest in the patient and must charge a fee that will not be prohibitive but that will compensate him since he has to do a very thorough examination."

"The examination should be a careful enquiry into the family and personal history of the client, a thorough physical examination of the whole body, a complete chemical and microscopic examination of the urine and a complete blood examination. These examinations will reveal to a good clinician any of the ordinary diseases and will show leads directing him to the search for any of the more obscure diseases if such exist. If all the laboratory examinations and instruments of precision are used there will be much unnecessary work done for which the public will have to pay and it follows that we will be accused of exploiting them if all this examination is done in all cases. In this I disagree with some authorities who believe that there should be a very exhaustive study of every case regardless of the expense involved."

"We are establishing local units of the Gorgas Memorial Institute in Minnesota, and expect to form a corps in every important community in the United States. These units will consist of doctors, dentists, representatives of various organizations, and the general public. They will concern themselves with community health problems, and urge the annual check-up by the family physician as a means of keeping well."

"The best answer that we know of today in relation to the cancer menace is that of very early examination and treatment. Cancer is not so dangerous if cared for in its early stages. If adults can have a thorough examination every twelve months, it will prove a viable life extension work."

"General Gorgas made himself immortal by his sanitary work in Panama, by the elimination of the mosquito, and by conquering yellow fever. However, his policies in the World War as head of the medical corps of the U. S. Army, where he arranged for very strict examinations for all prospective soldiers, has given us valuable data as to the need and utility of such tests. The Gorgas idea of an annual health audit is taking hold, and it will add much to our general life average."

Other speakers at the meeting were: A. F. Gaalaas, M. D., Wadena; Roscoe C. Webb, M. D., Minneapolis; M. C. Gillespie, M. D., Duluth; R. O. Jones, of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, and Dr. M. E. Withron, International Falls.

Tribute to Dr. P. M. Hall
The following resolution was adopted in memory of the service of the late Dr. P. M. Hall who passed away recently at Walker:

In the death of Dr. P. M. Hall, one of the oldest and best beloved members of this association, the Upper Mississippi Medical Society, in common with the State of Minnesota, suffers a great loss. His outstanding service as health commissioner of Minneapolis for many years, and his work with the United States Public Health Service during the World War, stamp him an organizer and executive of no ordinary ability. As superintendent of the Minnesota State Sanatorium at Walker, these talents were demonstrated in such fashion as to make him known throughout and beyond the United States.

Possessed of a personality most charming, he so endeared himself to those of the profession who had the joy of his acquaintance, that every member of this society experiences a great sadness from the passing of this great physician, this noble man, this friend.

If there be shadows there, or more

To live as though a pleasant land

Lay just beyond an open door?"

These resolutions, adopted by the Upper Mississippi Medical Society at International Falls, July 21, 1926, and engrossed upon the records of this society, are tendered our loved hostess of last year, Mrs. P. M. Hall, and the other members of the bereaved family.

Signed
B. W. KELLY,
G. R. CHRISTIE,
S. S. SHANNON,
Committee.

ACCIDENT AT SIXTH AND MAPLE

Greenwood Dairy Truck and Tourist Collide at 10 A. M.
Today

A Hupmobile truck from the Greenwood Dairy, driven by Iver J. Storstad, South Sixth street resident, and a Ford roadster driven by Miss Edith Rucktaeschel of Seaport, Minn., collided at the corner of South Sixth and Maple streets at 10 A. M. today. Storstad was driving South on Sixth street and had signalled to turn to the left. Miss Rucktaeschel driving her father's car thought she had time to pass before Storstad made the turn and her rear right wheel locked with the front left wheel of the dairy truck. As Miss Rucktaeschel was driving through the city and in a hurry to be on her way she accepted the blame for the accident, paid Storstad sufficiently to repair his car and was on her way.

Love's Ecstasy

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living at the home of Marise de Rense, night club proprietor. Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman, and Goldie, Marise's young sister, secretly join in a blackmailing scheme. Alela learns that the Countess Dellamanna, wealthy niece of her employer, W. B. Lingard, is infatuated with Gary. Marise confides in Alela that she is worried over Goldie's sudden, unexplained riches. Next evening, to Alela's great delight, Gary takes her driving and to dinner in the country.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXX.

THE car flew over the Long Island roads. Alela, snugly deep into the bucket seat, watched Gary Chester's clean-cut profile over the steering wheel.

He was both young and handsome. Like an Adonis, wasn't he? How sharply etched against the evening sky were the strong lines of his chin and jaw, the curve of the lips—so sweet and sensitive—the nose and forehead straightly meeting, as in the best tradition of the Greeks!

And high in the pale blue vault of heaven, above the couple, hung the slim crescent of a new, young moon.

In the long grass crickets hummed. There was a gentle whispering in the trees. Among the green and growing things the faintest rustling, as of new life stirring.

Just he and she—out of the whole world—speeding along together in a wonderful proximity! Cinderella transformed? The prince? And the glass slipper?

"Let's make it stronger—smaller—more sparkling and a thousand times more valuable than glass!" Gary Chester had said.

Oh! what had he meant to indicate?

A diamond?

Hadn't he grabbed her left hand, boyishly impulsive?

Hadn't he lifted her from this mundane world, and perched her—figuratively—on Mount Parnassus?

This was a dream—this nearness and this intimacy—intoxicating—heady—like a sweet narcotic!

Love seemed to beat about the flying car, with the spiced odor of a thousand poppies!

LOVE—twittering in the branches—calling to its mate...

Even the katydids, their chanting usually so monotonous—to-night, in honor of the great occasion—were calling love words to each other... and the tall trees, swaying dreamily, like lovers in a

MICKIE SAYS

Treatment for Sick Fish

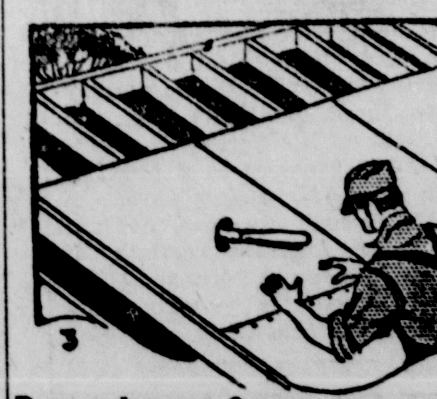

The bureau of fisheries says that if the tails of goldfish are fringed or frayed out, this is caused by a fungus growth, and it is advisable to give them a salt bath frequently. Use the solution as strong as they can stand it. This should be done two or three times a week, according to the seriousness of the case. The solution can be made strong until the fish squirms. This is a sign that the solution is too strong.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living at the home of Marise de Rense, night club proprietor. Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman, and Goldie, Marise's young sister, secretly join in a blackmailing scheme. Alela learns that the Countess Dellamanna, wealthy niece of her employer, W. B. Lingard, is infatuated with Gary. Marise confides in Alela that she is worried over Goldie's sudden, unexplained riches. Next evening, to Alela's great delight, Gary takes her driving and to dinner in the country.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXX.

THE car flew over the Long Island roads. Alela, snug-gled deep into the bucket seat, watched Gary Chester's clean-cut profile over the steering wheel.

He was both young and handsome. Like an Adonis, wasn't he? How sharply etched against the evening sky were the strong lines of his chin and jaw, the curve of the lips—so sweet and sensitive—the nose and forehead straightly meeting, as in the best tradition of the Greeks!

And high in the pale blue vault of heaven, above the couple, hung the slim crescent of a new, young moon.

In the long grass crickets hummed. There was a gentle whispering in the trees. Among the green and growing things the faintest rustling, as of new life stirring.

Alela's heart was all atone to happiness.

Just he and she—out of the whole world—speeding along together in a wonderful proximity! Cinderella transformed? The prince? And the glass slipper? "Let's make it stronger—smaller—more sparkling—and a thousand times more valuable than glass!" Gary Chester had said.

On! what had he meant to indicate?

A diamond?

Hadn't he grabbed her left hand, boyishly impulsive?

Hadn't he lifted her from this mundane world, and perched her—figuratively—on Mount Parnassus?

This was a dream—this nearness and this intimacy—intoxicating—heady—like a sweet narcotic!

Love seemed to beat about the flying car, with the spiced odor of a thousand poppies!

LOVE—twittering in the branches—calling to its mate...

Even the katydids, their chattering usually so monotonous—to-night, in honor of the great occasion—were calling love words to each other...

...and the tall trees, swaying dreamily, like lovers in a fond embrace, embodied love... and the lights glinting on the water semaphored love's message....

She stole a glance at her companion. Her whole being thrilled to this enchanted hour.

With his free hand he'd caught hers, tightly, for a moment. Smiling, half quizzical, amused, yet with a spark aflame in those grey eyes of his, his gaze had rested on the "engagement" finger, and words—so gayly teasing, yet with an undertone of meaning—had rushed out....

Oh! she must catch this magic mood of his before it passed! "Cinderella is shy. Her speech is maybe just as cramped—restricted—as her foot would be in the glass slipper? What do you say?" She withdrew her hand from his touch.

Gary Chester laughed softly, as though utterly content with life. "I'd say that, with or without the slipper, this little Cinderella could walk rough-shod over lots of hearts!"

Her breath caught. "She's no Cleopatra! Just a most ordinary, humdrum girl!"

Gary protested: "I won't allow you to miscall a very lovely little lady! If she only knew, however, her capacity for disturbing ordinary, humdrum men, she'd have a heart herself—"

"She has a heart!"

"Cased in asbestos?" he flung back at her, amused, intrigued.

"Wouldn't the prickly cactus be more likely, seeing this little Cinderella's from the country?" Oh! she would answer him in kind—maintain this quaint, exciting game of persiflage!

He laughed outright. He said, with smiling gallantry: "She's far too fine and sweet—if I'm any judge of character—to knowingly cause the slightest stab to anybody. And if she only knew what one young man thinks of her—humble as he may be—she'd be especially kind!"

Alela's eyes were dancing. This role of sauciness, of daring, was extraordinarily novel—like a bird testing its wings for the first time—or like learning to fly an airplane!

Copyright, 1928, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

"Kind sir, no man is humble! Flatter me not!" "Ah! Where did you gain your knowledge? I thought my little Cinderella knew sweet nothing about the big, outside world?"

She thrilled to the deep tenderness in his attractive voice. Her heart soared at the possessive pronoun "my" until it almost choked her.

But oh! She must not let him guess her feeling. She must not let herself into the category of "easy" girls who credited each compliment that fell from a man's lips on a Summer evening, when honeysuckle by the roadside drugged the senses and put honey on the tongue that might ensnare an inexperienced, too credulous young heart!

"Even a guileless little Cinderella has her woman's wits!" She flung that at him gaily, like a challenge.

"True daughter of Eve!" A shadow, like a question, flickered for a moment in his eyes.

She thought, tremulous with emotion, fearful of offending: "Am I giving him the wrong impression? Do I sound too 'sophisticated'?" Then, with a stab of fear: "Is he merely trying to flirt with me as maybe he's flirted with dozens of other girls? Is this the way a man of his brains and position usually talks to a girl he hasn't met socially, but who has jumped at his invitation without waiting for a formal introduction? Does—does he look on me as just an ordinary 'pick up'?"

The thought was torture. It raced along her nerves, tore at her heart.

Because her lips were shaking with this dread, she sat there silent, by him, while the big car swallowed up the winding ribbon of road. From time to time he flung a quick look at her, noting the wistful droop of the young head, the appealing profile, the sweet grace that was Alela.

So tremulous and shy—so brave. He'd seen the dreams, the courage, in those blue, blue eyes that sought to face this new, disturbing city life so gallantly....

And into his heart, like music that was poignant in its sweetness, stole the urge to plant this pretty flower where nature and her own loveliness had intended her to bloom.... far from the crowds and under brightest skies with only the softest breezes blowing harmoniously about her, himself the gardener, tending and caring for her with his own hand.

Filipino Wife's Status

In the Philippine islands, when women marry, they go into partnership with their husbands. While the men handle the workers, the women attend to the finance, act as cashiers, pay the workers and oversee much of the business. They also have equality with the men in everything except voting.

"D. F." Logs

So insistent was Duncan Phyfe, America's famous cabinetmaker, on the highest quality of raw materials that West Indian exporters of mahogany referred to their best timbers as "Duncan Phyfe" logs and marked them with his initials.—Exchange.

ORDER

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing. District Court, Fifteenth Judicial District.

In the matter of the petition of J. J. O'Brien, R. G. O'Brien, J. J. Moynihan and R. F. Pack for the dissolution of the corporation of the Brainerd Gas and Electric Company.

Upon reading and filing the petition of the above named applicants for the dissolution of the Brainerd Gas and Electric Company, a Minnesota corporation, and for such other relief as shall be proper in the premises,

It is Hereby Ordered that a hearing on said petition be held before this court at the court house in the city of Brainerd, Minnesota, on the 10th day of August, 1928, at two o'clock P. M., or as soon thereafter as said petition can be heard, and that notice of said hearing be given by publishing a copy of this Order once each week for three (3) successive weeks in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, a legal newspaper, published in the city of Brainerd, Crow Wing County.

Dated July 11th, 1928. B. F. WRIGHT, Judge.

A. WILLIAM GROTH, CLERK OF COURT. 15 South Fifth Street, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

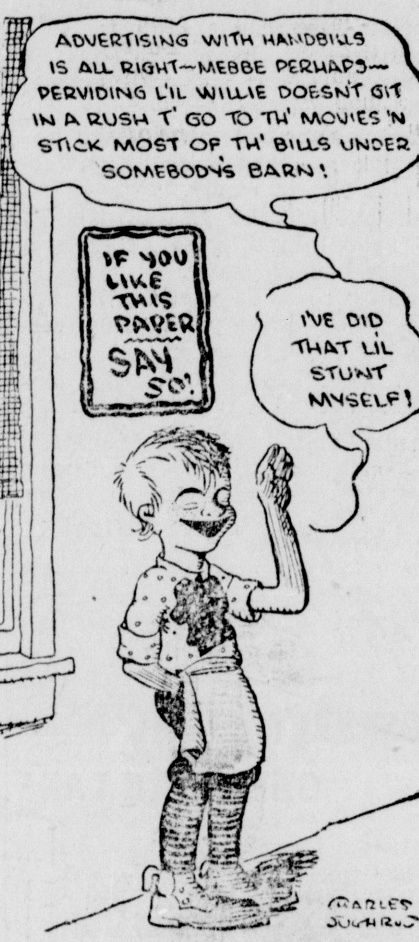

Succeeds Dr. Work

Roy D. West, Republican national committeeman from Chicago and personal friend of President Coolidge, who has been appointed secretary of the interior, succeeding Dr. Hubert Work, who resigned to pilot the presidential campaign of Herbert Hoover.

Treatment for Sick Fish

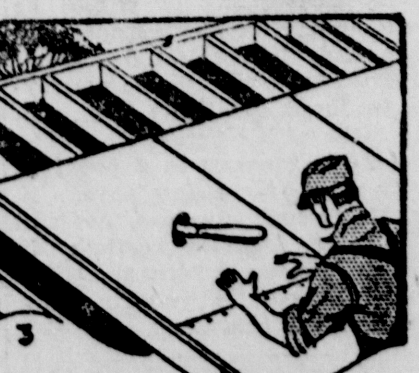

The bureau, or fisheries says that if the tails of goldfish are fringed or frayed out, this is caused by a fungus growth, and it is advisable to give them a salt bath frequently. Use the solution as strong as they can stand it. This should be done two or three times a week, according to the seriousness of the case. The solution can be made strong until the fish squirms. This is a sign that the solution is too strong.
